CORPS CHIEF SAYS . . .

Dam Alternate Being Prepared

Omaha (AP) — An alternative to the controversial proposed Platte River Dam between Omaha and Lincoln will be proposed by Col. B. P. Pendergrass, district engineer of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Omaha.

"The dam is still a valid project," said Pendergrass Wednesday night. "This does not mean I'm going to recommend against it."

But, he said, "In view of the controversy I thought I should develop and present an alternative solution."

Wrote Congressmen

Pendergrass said he wrote to members of the Nebraska Congressional delegation, informing them of his views.

Rep. Glenn Cunningham, contacted in Washington, said Wednesday night he concurs with the findings of Pendergrass. He said he has objected to the plan all along because he said it would impede growth in the corridor between Omaha and Lincoln and essentially nullify Omaha's growth.

The alternative to be proposed, said Pendergrass, consists of flood plain zoning and tributary storage.

Stop Building

He said his alternative will keep builders from developing the flood plain and then demanding protection when a flood comes along.

"These people shouldn't be there in the first place," he said.

He said the alternative "will serve to develop the water resources of the region . . . the flood plain should be zoned now anyhow."

'Will Realize'

He said he thought that Nebraskans will in a few years "realize that Nebraska doesn't have an inexhaustible supply of water."

Speaking of the dam proposal by the Army Engineers, Pendergrass said: "There's too much opposition to it and this is a bad time to ask for money."

Of the proposal, he said: "I'm going to present the alternative and let the political process decide."

Pleased

Cunningham said he is pleased the public will get the word now "so that this thing won't be hanging over their heads a long time causing tension and worry."

He said the proposed dam would have taken 126,000 acres of rich farmland out of production and destroyed the economies of several communities in that area.

Of possibilities for recreation, the congressman said the area will get plenty of recreation areas, and he mentioned 26 dams planned in the lower Papillion area.

Mathias Fears Vietnam Repeat

. . . SAYS DIRECTIVES VIOLATED

Washington (AP) — Sen. Charles Mathias Jr., R-Md., led a bipartisan Senate attack Wednesday on increasing U.S. involvement in Laos. He said it violates congressional directives and could repeat "the mistakes of our Vietnamese involvement."

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said the Vietnamese war is increasingly being fought in Laos and Cambodia.

And Sens. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., called on the Nixon administration to disclose the U.S. role in Laos. "The facts of our involvement have been concealed from the people," Gore said.

The debate, conducted in two bursts in a sparsely attended Senate session, was sparked by apparent concern over the failure of U.S. planes to stem an offensive by North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao in Laos.

"The Senate cannot ignore the storm signals that are flying this morning," Mathias said.

He charged, "U.S. military activities in that country clearly violate the spirit of both the national commitments resolution — requiring specific congressional approval for every new engagement of American troops abroad — and the amendment to the defense appropriations act prohibiting use of funds for American ground combat troops in Laos or Thailand."

Reports Cited

He cited "news reports from usually reliable publications" that mirror the presence in Laos of hundreds of ex-Green Berets, military advisers "swarming over the country in numbers proportionately larger than the Kennedy administration commitment of advisers" in Vietnam in the early 1960s, and the B52 raids.

Mathias, in a theme picked up by other speakers, said, "It would be a cruel disappointment of President Nixon's hopes for peace if success of Vietnamization in South Vietnam depends on escalation of the U.S. engagement in Laos."

That prompted Mansfield to say that if U.S. involvement continues to develop, "all the plans for Vietnamization will go down the drain and we will find ourselves in a most difficult situation."

Pullout Pointed At

He said, "There has been a decided shift to Laos and Cambodia from Vietnam itself" and said the administration should concentrate on speeding up U.S. withdrawals from Vietnam.

Cooper noted Nixon's efforts to get the United States out of Vietnam and said, "I do not see how we can get out of that situation by becoming involved in another war."

Cooper said he plans to offer amendments to appropriation bills "that will proscribe any kind of involvement in war in Laos."

Mansfield suggested that Britain and the Soviet Union, co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference, might be able to do something about the situation in Laos.

Explanation Wanted

The Montana Democrat also issued a statement calling on G. McMurtie Godley, the U.S. ambassador to Laos, to explain comments attributed to him following the ouster of three newsmen Tuesday from Long Cheng air base in Laos.

News reports from Vientiane quoted Godley as saying "the American mission has lost any interest in helping out the press whatsoever because of what has happened this afternoon."

"I would suggest most respectfully," Mansfield said, "that regardless of what happened that afternoon, the American embassy in Vientiane should regain its interest in the press without delay."

Dyas, Kelley Back Demo Reforms

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Democratic State Chairman Hess Dyas of Lincoln and National Committeeman Tom Kelley of Omaha Wednesday gave conditional, but enthusiastic, endorsement to a bold plan for party reform.

The proposal, authored by Omaha attorney Richard Fellman, would remake the Democratic Party by wiping out all its existing internal structure and transferring power to govern its affairs to Democratic voters.

Voters would elect members of the governing body — called the Nebraska Democratic Forum — and directly choose the party's national committeeman and national committeewoman. Elected members of the Forum would choose a state chairman.

"I like the idea of bringing the party closer to the people," Dyas said. "It's very attractive."

Kelley said the elected Forum would produce a party "more responsive to the people," and he specifically endorsed the plan to allow Democratic voters to directly elect national committee members.

National Committeewoman Maurine Biegert of Shickley said she wants to give the proposals further study before taking a firm position.

Anything That's Good

But, she noted, "anything that's good for more participation in politics is good."

Both Dyas and Kelley said they think Fellman's plan will need some modifications.

And Fellman does not argue with that possibility. "It may very well need some revisions," he said.

But, he noted, in one form or another, he expects to take the proposal to the state central committee and to next June's state party convention for consideration.

To Central Committee

Broad outlines of the proposal — and other suggestions laid before the party reform committee which Fellman heads — will be presented to the central committee at a meeting in Omaha March 8.

Other recommendations will probably make their way to the 1971 Legislature, the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission and the Omaha City Council, Fellman said.

Fellman's direct election plan would require legislative approval.

"If there are obvious faults in the proposal, I will not fight any change," Fellman said. But, at the same time, he said, he does not plan to "let it die."

Some Changes Needed

Both Dyas and Kelley think some changes may be needed in the Forum proposal in order to meet local party leadership problems in sparsely populated counties. Fellman admits a problem may exist.

In fact, in presenting his proposal, Fellman noted that "some provision should be made to utilize the present level of leadership and interest" in certain rural counties.

"This would be a step toward more democracy," Dyas said. "I think the main reason it excites me is that it's a new and creative idea which will shake people into thinking about our current procedural problems.

"I think it's obvious that not enough Democrats feel very close to the Democratic Party. That, of course, is a problem both parties face."

UNO Senate Opposes Disciplinary Action In Sit-In

Omaha (UPI) — The University Senate at the University of Nebraska at Omaha recommended Wednesday the school take no disciplinary action "insofar as not required by law" against the students who staged a sit-in at the university president's office last Nov. 10.

"Further the Senate expressed no opinion as to whether the courts should determine that the students are technically guilty of violating a state statute," the Senate said in a resolution.

In conjunction with the incident, another resolution passed Wednesday urges the responsible university officials to take immediate steps to rectify conditions in the student center. Complaints concerning the center were a major reason for the sit-in demonstration by members of a group calling itself Black Liberators for Action on Campus.

The Senate resolutions were among 40 announced by Dr. Paul Stageman, professor of chemistry and senate president. He said the list is based on a report of the senate's ad hoc committee on student demands and grievances submitted late in January.

The committee had been formed following the occupation of the office area of UNO President Kirk E. Naylor.

Stageman said some of the resolutions have been sent on to the president for his consideration, while others have been directed to committees and councils of the senate itself for action.

He said the senate generally approved the report of the ad hoc committee.

Stageman said action on the part of several Senate committees already has been started, and reports are expected as quickly as the action can be completed.

Naylor said he has asked members of the university staff to make complete studies of the resolutions which concern specific areas of university operation and to report to him as quickly as possible.

"All of these resolutions must be given the most conscientious consideration for all actions taken will influence the university for many years to come," Naylor said.

Other resolutions announced included:

—The student publications committee review existing policies regarding the sale and distribution of literature on campus.

—Improved planning and organization of registration procedures should be placed into effect.

—The office of campus ombudsman be created to help students and faculty with their problems.

—A committee of six be appointed to explore possibilities for the development of an equitable UNO governing system.

Richardson Co. Sheriff, Deputy Sued

By KEN NEUNDORF
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln man who claims he was beaten by a Richardson County deputy sheriff has filed a $106,000 damage suit in U.S. District Court here against the deputy and the county sheriff.

Robert D. Kirk of 6823 Burlington lodged the suit against Sheriff L. D. Camblin, Deputy Eugene D. Ramer and the bonding firms for each, Western Surety Co. and Universal Surety Co.

According to Kirk's petition, he and his family and some friends were on a picnic approximately six miles southeast of Rulo when a car drove by and occupants of the car yelled obscenities and hurled eggs at Kirk and his companions.

Kirk says he contacted Sheriff Camblin a mile and a half from the incident and as he was informing the sheriff, a vehicle pulled up behind and Kirk inadvertently pointed his finger at the driver.

The driver was Deputy Ramer, Kirk's petition said, and the deputy emerged from the vehicle and said, "You point that finger at me and I'll break it off."

The petition alleges the deputy was dressed in a t-shirt and blue jeans and that since Kirk had no way of knowing he was a deputy, he answered, "You ain't man enough to break my finger off."

Kirk claims the deputy said it sounded like a threat and that when the sheriff said "yes," the deputy sprayed chemical mace in his face and then beat Kirk 20 or 25 times with a "club wrapped in black leather."

The sheriff made no attempt to restrain the deputy and later, when he drove Kirk to the Falls City courthouse, refused to provide him with medical attention, the petition alleges.

Kirk claims he was never placed under arrest but that he was told at one point he would be charged with assault with a deadly weapon from information of a Mr. Koeller, a man who Kirk claims supposedly drove the car from which eggs were thrown. No charges were ever filed, according to Kirk.

The petition alleges Kirk suffered contusions of the back and head, dermatitis of the face, severe neck sprain, swollen eyes, temporary damage to the left ear and possible permanent eye damage.

He asks $100,000 damages from Camblin and Ramer and $5,000 from Western Surety, the sheriff's bonding firm, and $1,000 from Universal Surety, Ramer's bonding firm.

Laotian Premier Says Hanoi 'Escalating' War

Vientiane, Laos (AP) —Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma declared Wednesday the loss of the Plain of Jars was "a North Vietnamese escalation" that will "complicate the political and military situation in Laos."

Disclaiming any knowledge of U.S. bombings in Laos, he said in an interview: "People talk too much about the bombing by American planes in Laos. I only know one thing. There are North Vietnamese troops here and people don't talk enough about this."

He said the North Vietnamese offensive was a threat to the whole military region and especially to Long Cheng, government army headquarters, and Sam Thong, a vital supply base west of the Plain of Jars.

Souvanna would not specify what measures the Laotian government would take but said "we will do all we can to stop this offensive."

He added he would not ask for ground troops from friendly countries, and "we don't want any foreign troops in Laos."

Souvanna Phouma made his remarks in an interview with the Japanese NHK and Australian Broadcasting Commission networks.

The North Vietnamese army has now regained nearly every key position it lost in Laos last summer when government troops wrested the Plain of Jars region from the enemy.

Bank Cuts Prime Rate; Stock Market Soars

New York (AP) — A small Philadelphia bank Wednesday lowered the interest rate it charges its best customers and sent the stock market soaring.

Lincoln National Bank lowered its prime rate to 8% from 8½% "because we don't want the economy of the Delaware Valley to suffer," said bank president, Norman Denny.

However, spokesmen across the country for banks much larger than Lincoln, with its $50 million in assets, generally said money market rates still are too high for a decrease to spread.

Investors Take Heart

Nevertheless stock market investors who have watched the Dow Jones industrial average drop more than 200 points since May 1969 took heart in the news and started to buy on the hope that tight money policies might soon relax.

The Dow Jones industrial average jumped from about a one-point advance to more than an eight-point gain within 15 minutes. It closed up 13.86 at 768.28. Nearly five million shares changed hands in the final hour. (More on Page 34.

Wall Street analysts have widely blamed a prolonged market slump on the government's tight money and credit policies.

The prime interest rate — from which rates on smaller loans are scaled upward — has been at the record 8½% level since June 9 1969.

The rate increase followed Federal reserve Board anti-inflationary measures designed to make it more expensive and more difficult for banks to borrow money.

As recently as Dec. 2, 1968, the prime rate was 6%, but a series of increases, usually 0.25% or 0.5% raised it to the now historic high.

The effective cost of the 8½% prime rate is 10.6% to corporate borrowers because banks require even their most creditworthy customers to maintain deposit balances of about 2% of the loan.

Other bankers — even those in Philadelphia — said they would be surprised if other banks fall in line with a prime rate decrease.

Similar Action Predicted

Denny, however, predicted other banks would take a similar action within "the next several weeks."

In January 1967, Lincoln National reduced its prime rate to 5½% from 6% after two small banks in other states had lowered theirs and soon was followed by major banks across the nation.

"Banks will lower the rate when market conditions are appropriate," said William F. Butler, vice president of Chase Manhattan in New York, the bank that first followed Lincoln's lead in 1967. "I don't think they'll come down at the moment. Federal funds are still at 9% plus and Eurodollar rates have been up in that range."

Denny said his bank made the move to let businessmen in the area know that in February, when they traditionally make commitments for the rest of the year, "the banks will be there behind them."

Bank's Interest Cut Won't Affect Lincoln

A Philadelphia bank's lowering of interest rates will apparently have little if any effect on Lincoln rates, according to several Lincoln bankers.

"It is highly unlikely that this will set any trend," one Lincoln banker commented. "It is important to note that assets of $50 million do not constitute a very large bank, particularly in that area of the country."

"The motives for that particular firm's lowering of the rate seems to be more of publicity than economics," another Lincoln banker commented.

City National Bank, National Bank of Commerce and First National Bank here in Lincoln report that there are no interest changes foreseeable in Lincoln.

County Open For Licenses On Saturday

To help Lancaster County residents beat the Saturday deadline for auto licenses, the Lancaster County treasurer's office will be open from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday.

According to Deputy County Treasurer John Mozdzen, the assessor's and county clerk's offices will not be open so any individuals who must get titles or new tax statements will not be able to complete the licensing process Saturday.

He said due to the extremely long lines this week it was felt the added day was needed to serve the taxpayers.

Washington — An administration official said plans were being made to set celings on the charges doctors and hospitals could make under the medicare and medicaid programs.

Desegregation Ignored

Washington — Despite Southern pressure to put school desegregation on the agenda of the National Governors' Conference in Washingtos, the controversial issue is being eliminated — along with all other policy resolutions customarily passed at the annual conference. The decision was made by the conference chairman, Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, and other leading governors.

Air's Lead Content High

Houston — A chemical analysis of the air over downtown San Diego, Calif., has shown that on warm winter days the lead concentrations reached as high as 80% of the proposed federal safety limit, a scientist reported. The level, caused almost entirely by automobiles burned leaded gasoline, is rising, he added.

Heckling Stops Trial

New York — Stopping the pretrial hearings of 13 Black Panthers in the midst of heckling by the defendants, State Supreme Court Justice John M. Murtagh ordered the hearings recessed until the defendants promise in writing to behave in the courtroom. The heckling prompted the judge to invoke the "formula" for decorum that he earlier had promised to delay "for a week or two."

Two Carriers' Planes Also Hit Reds In Laos

World News

Saigon (AP) — Two U.S. carriers with about 170 warplanes are adding their entire strike capability to Air Force efforts to cut North Vietnamese supply and troop infiltration corridors in Laos, informed sources said Wednesday night.

A spokesman for the U.S. 7th Fleet declined comment on aerial activity in Laos, but said no Navy bombing raids had been flown against North Vietnamese positions in South Vietnam since Feb. 15. The two carriers are based in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Other sources said all of the Navy air strikes are being flown in Laos, but they declined to give specific target areas. The U.S. Command has a policy of reporting only bombing missions in South Vietnam.

While enemy action in South Vietnam remained at one of its lowest levels of the year, attention focused on the massive American air campaign in Laos.

Aim Of Campaign

The aim is to slow a North Vietnamese offensive in the Plain of Jars area and to forestall a North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam by cutting the Ho Chi Minh Trail in eastern Laos. The North Vietnamese move war materials and troops into South Vietnam over the trail.

Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific, said "Laos is critically important to the free Asian countries' efforts to withstand the Communist aggressive campaign."

McCain said in a speech to the South Vietnamese National Defense College: "It would be unrealistic to hope that a Vietnam settlement, when achieved, will end the threat of aggressive communism. Backed by U.S. ground, sea and air power, our allies must develop and maintain conventional forces to help deter the aggressive ambitions of their Communist neighbors.

Soviet Chinese Stooges

"The Soviets and Chinese Communists have shown great skill in getting others to do the fighting to expand communism. The choice for us is to assist our allies to fight the common enemy, or we will probably have to do it by ourselves."

McCain said that "in Laos, wide areas in the north and in the panhandle previously classified as 'contested' are now dominated by North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces."

"Stretching west and south like two fingers in the heart of Southeast Asia, Laos is critically important to the free Asian countries' efforts to withstand the Communist aggressive campaign," he declared.

Cambodian Situation

McCain also touched on the situation in Cambodia, which also borders South Vietnam.

"One of the problems in that country," he said, "is the fact the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese army regulars are using certain border areas of Cambodia to refit, resupply and regroup for their aggression in South Vietnam.

"The Cambodian government has made tentative moves to control Communist abuse of its territory. However, Hanoi's objective to dominate all of former French Indochina is very clear."

DALMATIAN IS CREDIT-WORTHY

This proud Dalmatian's owner, Donald L. Boyd of Troy, Mich., became annoyed by the numerous credit card applications he received. He bet his wife that their pet dog could qualify for a card. He applied for a card for the spotted pooch, listing its occupation as "watchdog." Boyd won his bet. The dog now has his own credit card and is rated a "preferred customer" by a Troy department store.

Matchmaker Falls Victim To Computers

Philadelphia (UPI) — The matchmaker went out of business here Wednesday, a victim of the computer age.

Miss Elanor S. Armbruster, who brings people together through her Helen Leeds Introduction Service of Pennsylvania, Inc., filed a bankruptcy suit in federal court.

She said the personalized service which has played Cupid for 20 years can no longer operate profitably because almost everyone is seeking mates through the new computer dating systems.

Congress Hears Pompidou Politely

Washington (AP) — One member quietly walked out, about 200 stayed away, but Congress gave French President Georges Pompidou a courteous hearing on the Middle East and Vietnam Wednesday and applauded.

Pompidou emphasized two themes in his brief talk to a joint meeting of the House and Senate:

—A four-power conference under auspices of the United Nations should seek a quick peace in the Middle East. France has no intention of favoring one side there over the other.

—As for Vietnam, "I know ... the will to peace which guides the President of the United States." The end of the war "will be the most worthy of victories — a victory won first over oneself."

In his talk — which ran only 25 minutes, even with paragraph by paragraph translation — the French president did not refer to France's sale of warplanes to Libya.

This was the issue that touched off the boycott move in Congress and the solo demonstration of Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y.

As Pompidou began speaking after the opening applause, Wolff got up from his seat about halfway down the main aisle of the big House chaamber and strode out.

Full Chamber Rare

The chamber was not full. It appeared that about 150 of the 434 House members and 40 of the 100 senators were not present. However, full attendance is practically unknown. Members' children and employes reduced the number of empty seats and there was a big diplomatic turnout.

The speech was interrupted eight times by applause — once when Pompidou quoted, in English, the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement that "every nation has a right to live its own life."

"I reaffirm here the right of the state of Israel not only to existence but also to security and the free exercise of all the rights of an independent and soveriegn state," Pompidou said.

"But who cannot see the precarious and in the long run sterile nature of military success?"

Principle Of 'One Man, One Vote' Is Extended To All Public Officials

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday its "one man, one vote" doctrine applies to the election of all public officials.

In a 5-3 decision, the court ruled that the doctrine must be applied in connection with election of trustees of a junior college district in the Kansas City, Mo., area.

"While the office of junior college trustee differs in certain respects from those offices considered in prior cases, it is exactly the same in one crucial factor — these officials are elected by popular vote," said the opinion written by Justice Hugo L. Black.

He said there was no valid reason for changing the doctrine, originally set forth for "legislative" officers, in elections of "administrative" officers.

He enunciated this general rule:

"Whenever a state or a local government decides to select persons by popular election to perform governmental functions, the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment requires that each qualified voter must be given an equal opportunity to participate in that election, and when members of an elected body are chosen from separate districts, each district must be established on a basis which will ensure, as far as practicable, that equal numbers of voters can vote for proportionally equal numbers of officials."

Dissenting were Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart.

The case was appealed to the Supreme Court by a group of Kansas City residents who complained that the organization of Kansas City Metropolitan Junior College District discriminates against Kansas City because it is represented by only three of the six trustees, although its school population ranged from 59 to 64% of the total.

Ruling May Affect Some State Towns

The U.S. Supreme Court decision Wednesday extending the one-man, one-vote rule to all governmental bodies may affect a number of Nebraska towns.

In virtually all of Nebraska's larger towns, councilmen are elected from districts or wards.

Kenneth L. Bowen, former executive director of the League of Nebraska Municipalities, said he doubts if any of these districts "are set up on an equal population basis."

Councilmen are elected at large in Lincoln and Omaha.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Harold Mosher said that to his knowledge, the only Nebraska school board whose members are elected by wards or districts is Beatrice's.

And county commissioners or supervisors, generally elected by districts, apparently will not run afoul of the court ruling. A state law for years has required commissioner or supervisor districts to be of approximately equal population.

Environment Corruption Charges Said 'Warped'

. . . By Col. Anderson At Annual RVCA Meeting

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Nebraska News

McCook — National publicity accusing the U.S. Corps of Engineers of corrupting the environment was described here Wednesday as "warped and ill founded."

Speaking at the 30th annual meeting of the Republican Valley Conservation Association, Col. R. L. Anderson of Kansas City said the corps has "always been subject to criticism" that was not justified. But the charges have multiplied, he noted, with the current emphasis upon ecology.

"Our philosophy is not to destroy nature, but to assist nature to serve the public better," said the district engineer.

Anderson said the corps is increasingly stressing preservation and aesthetics in its projects. One example cited was the planning of new dams so that they complement the surrounding planned area.

The colonel was one of approximately a dozen state and federal representatives presenting reports at an afternoon session. The principal address, presented by U.S. Commissioner of Reclamation Ellis L. Armstrong, was at an evening banquet attended by some 250 persons.

$329,345 Projects

Good news for the Republican Valley area was in announcement that four reclamation sites are to receive $329,345 in state improvements. Willard Barbee, who becomes director of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission in April, said the money is planned for Enders, Swanson, Harry Strunk and Hugh Butler reservoirs.

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission, explained the realignment of various conservation agencies into natural resource districts.

He said the proposal is receiving "excellent response" at informational meetings. He predicted, however, that some boundaries will be changed from the 28 districts now proposed.

Referring to some criticism which has come on the funding of districts, he stated that "we're in a bad state of affairs in Nebraska if we can't levy two mills for total resources development."

Dan Jones, director of the Nebraska Water Division, predicted that a Blue River compact with Kansas will be ready to present to the 1971 legislature. He also noted that 1,424 new irrigation wells were registered in the state last year, far off the 1967 peak of 2,620.

Lew Paramore, vice president of the Mississippi Valley Association headquartered in Kansas City, spoke at a noon luncheon. He said that "the past needs to be remembered" if conservation progress is to continue.

Don Thompson of McCook, veteran president of the association, presided.

'MORE POTENTIAL' . . .

Beef Industry Growth Seen

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's beef industry, already a billion dollar annual asset to the state's economy, has "substantial room for growth," a Federal Reserve Bank economist said Wednesday.

"It has more potential than most any other segment of the agricultural economy," Dr. Raymond Doll told a symposium conducted by the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry.

Doll is vice president and senior economist at the Federal Reserve Bank in Kansas City.

Beef consumption should increase at a rate even greater than the national population growth, he noted.

Demand Increasing

"The demand for beef is increasing consistently," he said.

Nebraska counts more than six million cattle and calves, Doll said. It has three million head on feed during a year, slaughters 3½ million head each year and produces two billion pounds of beef for consumption.

Cattle now account for nearly half of Nebraska's gross farm income, estimated at $2.2 billion for 1969.

Gross farm income in the state is equal to 43% of the total personal income in Nebraska, Doll noted.

Over Half

And, when other farm-related income is considered, he said, "well over half of the total personal income is directly or indirectly tied to agriculture."

With those facts in mind, Doll suggested, Nebraska should consider the potential for growth within its agricultural economy as well as industrial development.

Doll said it is a mistake to measure economic growth in terms of population. "Jobs and income are the key factors," he said.

Undesirable

In fact, he suggested, "rapid population growth is undesirable unless per capita incomes go up too."

P. T. (Terry) King of Omaha, supervising statistician for economic research at Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., said his firm foresees major growth in the Omaha-Lincoln area and northward along the state's eastern border.

The Platte Valley also contains potential for growth, King said.

Northwestern Bell estimates Nebraska's current population at about 1½ million, and projects a 1980 count of 1,665,000. That, he noted, would mean a 10% growth rate in the 1970's.

Need Attractive Jobs

But the state needs to provide "more attractive job opportunities" if it is to reduce the rate of outmigration, King said. Nebraska lost 43,000 citizens as a result of outmigration during the 1960-69 period, he said.

Official Says Projects Not Just Business

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

McCook — U.S. Reclamation Commissioner Ellis L. Armstrong suggested here Wednesday night that reclamation projects should not be viewed as merrely "sound business ventures."

Addressing the Republican Valley Conservation Association, he explained that rising interest rates have interferred with many projects by altering benefit-cost ratios. Decisions should partly be based, he said, on social benefits and "quality of life."

"I am not suggesting that we ignore economics," he stated. "But I am convinced that we are paying dearly for our past over-emphasis on the narrow and cold cash economic justification of water development projects."

A one-time engineer on the valley's Trenton Dam, Armstrong reviewed area progress since he left Nebraska 15 years ago. He cited the long-proposed Nelson Buck project in Kansas as an example of work blocked by tight money.

Sharing the spotlight at an evening banquet was Mel Steen, State Game Commission director who is scheduled to retire April 22. He was presented a Distinguished Service award by President Don Thompson for his "great contribution to the state and to the Republican Valley."

Also honored with a similar award was Gerald Gentleman of North Platte, former manager of the Platte Valley Public Power District.

Improved Farm Income Aim Of Visitors In Texas

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Texas farmers in the Amarillo area are being visited this week by 20 Nebraska Farmers Union members in a campaign to generate action in support of better farm income.

While the Nebraska farmers are in Texas a contingent of North Dakota farmers are in Nebraska discussing farm problems.

Elton Berck, state president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, says FU members from Nebraska, North Dakota, Kansas, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico are participating in a flying membership campaign in an intensive effort to develop more support for improvement of federal farm programs.

Utilized in the campaign is the National Farmers Union plane that delivered the North Dakota farmers to Nebraska as it picked up the Nebraska members for the Texas trip.

Albert Schoenrock of Gladstone said he thinks the big message farmers have to tell is based on the importance of price support loans on grain.

'Backbone Of Agriculture'

"The loan program has been the backbone and stability of agriculture, and if anyone has forgotten wheat dropped over 30 cents per bushel in a day and soybeans more than 70 cents a bushel in a short time before we had the loan program," said Schoenrock.

Schoenrock says with the speed that farmers harvest crops today the market could be very erratic if the loan program was not available.

Marvin Meyers of Odell plans on stressing the importance of farmers being organized so their spokesmen in Washington have support when they plead the farmer's cause.

Wm. Tiahrt of Beatrice, one of Gage County's veteran farmers, is along to remind the younger farmers of what happened to agriculture before the days of the farm program.

"We haven't all forgotten 16 cent corn and 30 cent wheat and we realize that unless the farmer shares in our economy the chance of a strong national economy is very dim," explained Nebraska farmers heading for Texas.

Exon Favors Revision Of State Income Tax

Omaha (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial hopeful J. J. Exon of Lincoln told a group of about 25 young Democrats at the University of Nebraska at Omaha that he favors the state sales and income taxes, but would like to see the income tax revised.

Exon said the Nebraska tax should be revised to eliminate "loopholes" brought about by its being based on a percentage of the federal tax obligation.

He said he would have a detailed outline of his revision proposal later.

Noting that he feels Nebraskans are on the brink of a tax revolt, he said he could not promise a tax cut if elected, terming such a promise "irresponsible." However, he said he feels the "tax lever has been in the go position too long" and called for a reassessment of spending priority.

Other points brought up by Exon:

—He would not favor legalizing marijuana "in any shape or form" and would propose much stiffer penalties for drug pushers.

—He thinks Gov. Norbert Tiemann has granted excessive pay raises to higher echelon state employes at the expense of the lower paid workers.

—He would not oppose election of city, county and school officials by districts.

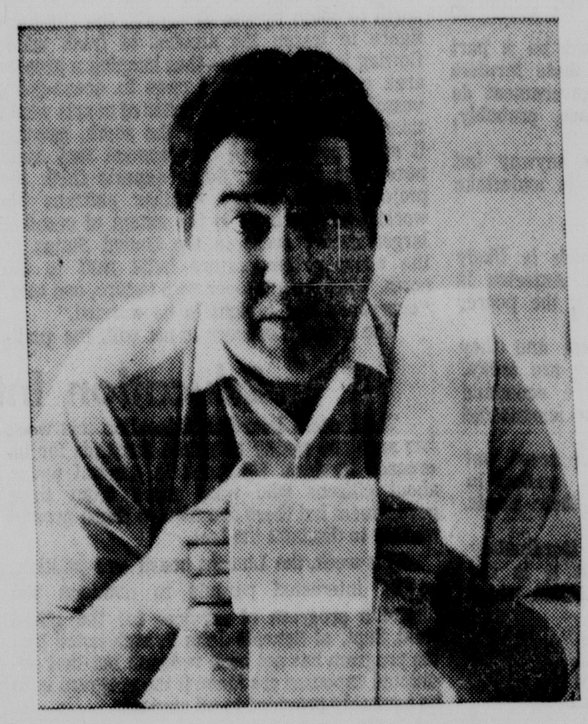

—He feels there should be a state-operated trade school in Omaha.

—He termed the passage of the 1969 self-defense act "unfortunate and a legislative slap at Tiemann."

Savage Ponders Filing For State Legislative Post

Omaha (AP) — A veteran Omaha newspaper photographer, John S. Savage, said Wednesday he is considering filing for the legislature from the 10th District.

The post is being vacated by Clifton Batchelder, who has announced he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Some comment was made earlier this week on this page about the series of articles by Don Walton regarding the status of affairs in Nebraska. Walton analyzed the problems facing Nebraska by interviewing a host of state senators, all of whom are now home among their constituents.

It is obvious from what is reported by the senators that all things are not well in the state. Exactly how hard times are is difficult to ascertain because there is a common inclination among people to complain about their state of affairs.

But the real measure of how bad things are will ultimately be forthcoming and indications are that it might not be too good. Population growth is one measure, business activity is another and farm income is a third.

With the complaints being heard, one judges that these and other indicators may be turning downward. What is adversely affecting Nebraska, especially rural Nebraska, is the same thing that is disturbing the economy all over the nation.

Criticism is directed at taxes and perhaps some of it is justified but bitterness over taxation can come in two ways. It can come because taxes are too oppressive or it can come because there simply is not enough money to pay taxes.

Both are not the same thing. Exactly the same tax rate would have far different degrees of acceptance in bad times and good times. A $600 tax bill when you are netting $10,000 a year is not objectionable but it is highly objectionable when you are netting $3,000 a year.

Despite the loud talk, the national administration has done absolutely nothing to date to help the cause of rural America. The trends that were established a decade and more ago are continuing — the exodus of people from farm and small town to city and the disillusionment of the family farm.

The tax base in rural areas is shrinking while the demand for public services expands. The economy becomes constantly more sophisticated but rural areas lack the resources with which to meet that sophistication.

Not only has the national administration failed to meet that challenge, but it has added to the problem. This it has done by failing to adopt realistic agricultural programs, by turning away from even the modest programs of the past.

To date, for instance, farm signups for the 1970 feed grains and wheat program are lagging behind last year by a fairly substantial amount. This may prove to be insignificant by the time the signup period ends but if the trend continues, the 1970 farm program will be a failure.

It would fail because too few farmers would be a part of it, giving dominance in the market place to those farmers who are going it alone. And what would the government do then? It would go along with the market place, probably, and abandon its support of agriculture.

This, we suspect, is what it wants to do anyway but what it presently lacks is the political courage to undertake it completely on its own.

Additionally, rural America is the area which is likely to be hit hardest by economic adversity. Rural America is not wealthy America and when hard times come, the poorer areas are always the first to get it in the neck.

High interest rates hit the little guy hardest and they have never been higher in recent times than they are today. Unemployment strikes first at the bottom of the economic ladder, cutting the untrained, the unskilled and the uneducated off at the pockets before anyone else gets the ax.

The same things apply in large metropolitan areas but there one finds offsetting factors. When adversity strikes in metropolis, it still leaves a lot of people with their heads above water.

But when it strikes in ruarl America, it hits an inordinately large percentage of the people. We believe that it is the state of the national economy rather than local taxation which is creating unrest throughout Nebraska.

Controlling Water Resources

For purposes of improving navigation of northeast Arctic Ocean routes, irrigating millions of acres of southern Siberian wastelands and draining millions more acres of swamps, Russian scientists are now contemplating reversing the flow of three large Siberian rivers.

By reversing the flow of the rivers from north to south by use of canals, the Russians figure to lessen the amount of fresh water flowing into the Arctic—thus keeping a greater area near the shoreline open to ocean-going vessels. The thousands of miles of canals would take a flood of waters to the south, opening it up to potentials of development that could reach the fantastic. Some experts think the project would change weather patterns the world over, perhaps to the extent of creating larger desert areas in the United States as the warmer temperature belts shift to the north. When men tamper with nature, one said, "everybody has a right to be worried."

The Russian concern is not with the quality of water, as it is here. But the application of water control programs of great magnitude is also raising questions in this country.

Harvard Prof. Werner Stumm attacks the proposal to spend hundreds of millions of dollars for new sewage treatment plants as only "aspirin" and not the cure for the nation's sick waters. He says that money should be spent instead on studies of other means of treating water to achieve an ecological balance with man and his needs—studies on how to circulate huge bodies of water, how to restore nutrients to the dead area of lake bottoms, the effects of importing certain fish and the possibility of treating whole rivers instead of just the affluent dumped into them.

Stumm said he is not against the government's taking direct action to overcome water pollution. But he also seems to be saying that man—on one side of the globe in his newfound rush to reclaim a resource and on the other side in his preparation to exploit one—might take time to think.

Education Interests Varied

The Lincoln Board of Education this week has seen the reality of public demands for increased services. We speak in general terms about citizens who want more from their government but there are always those around who try to disclaim the fact.

This week, the Lincoln board was petitioned by interested parents to continue the district's program of services for the gifted child. Supt. of Schools John Prasch noted that the program has not been reduced but that additional expenses are faced if the program is to be equitably provided to all students.

Presumably, interested parents would go along with such an expansion, which would make the same advantages available to children throughout the district.

Also, the Lincoln League of Women Voters has advised the board that it should plan next year for classroom sizes of no more than 28 pupils each. This is not an average of 28, but a maximum of 28 for every class.

Obviously, such a limit would mean additional staff and physical plant facilities.

There is no question that both of the above matters contribute to a higher quality educational system but it is just as obvious that they would involve an additional expenditure of money.

The board then faces the conflict of demands for improved quality of education as opposed to concern elsewhere over the level of taxation. And the voice of concern over taxes can be as loud and clear as any. That is the difficult challenge the board faces — to constantly seek higher quality and yet maintain a reasonable level of taxation.

New Trend

Bennet, Neb.

Until recently it was difficult to convince the public that the air we breathe, the water we drink and the food we eat were becoming contaminated. At last many of us realize that we have run up against a serious problem and, as is often the case, greed can be blamed for much of it.

We now have learned that smog is getting worse since more cars are on the road and that the large amounts of potent fertilizers used for farming have leaked through the soil and reached the water table. Fish at the mouth of the Mississippi carry loads of agriculture poison and are described as "living bombs" and anything that eats them is doomed. In the Southwest where phosphate pesticides are being substituted for DDT, sickness from poisoning is still being reported.

Before a solution to the problem is found, many of us will have to come down from our financial high horse. Some naturally will try to make themselves believe that there is nothing to be concerned about. Even now we read in some farm publications that it is a scare that will blow over.

We used to raise good crops by plowing under clover and using barnyard fertilizer. And what is wrong with farming less ground? It would put more families back on the land. The garbage problem can be reduced by not swallowing so much food and chewing it more. Much of it comes from loading our plates and not touching it. To help clear up the air, we could ride less and walk more. It would solve not only the traffic problem but also the health problem.

Someone will have to start a trend away from the present way of living which, if continued, won't be living, at all.

Pro's And Con's

Lincoln, Neb.

Commenting on Jack Stout's letter of February 12 and reactions to it which have already been printed, I would like to say that he did have some good points in criticism of the lack of gentility of a minority of those who paid their way into the dinner at which Spiro Agnew appeared.

On the other hand, perhaps Mr. Stout should be ashamed of having associated with those who caused the vice president of the United States to use a rear entrance to our beautiful Pershing Auditorium.

Mr. Frank W. Bartzatt conveys the impression that he thinks the military can do no wrong and that some universities can do no right.

Luckily, the majority of the citizens of this country are not as bigoted in their views as that, and I would like to praise Mrs. Frank C. Sidles for having spoken most sensibly of all, in The Star, about this dinner.

Patchwork Prairie Country

This morning I went to the basement for a jar of canned fruit and found I had company on the other side of the basement wall. Very faintly at first I heard a croaking. It became louder and I followed the sound until I came to the north wall. I stood for a moment, listening. Then began a most cheery serenade.

A frog, fooled by the warm days and added warmth from the basement, thinks it is spring. Our furnace is in the basement so I am certain if the frog has tunneled down the outside wall, he is confused. He sang for quite some time. In fact I can hear him now if I listen. His voice is getting better with more practice.

Although February is a short month and has almost come to a close, I would not want to say it is time for all frogs to awaken and come hopping out in search of spring. March has been known to be very cruel with snow and cold winds. It has sent many a robin in search of shelter after they sang from the tree tops on a balmy, sunny day.

I have just finished reading a Mari Sandoz book, "These Were The Sioux." I came to admire this tribe as I read page by page and found enlightenment in coming to know the ideas behind their rituals.

Since being a small girl, I have always thought and envied the Indians. Perhaps it is because of their lives spent in great independence in the out-of-doors. I read every story of Indian life and culture I could get my hands on and still find reading such material interesting. And of course I like to spend my time outside and find a certain strength and satisfaction in working with nature.

At one time I knew long portions of the narrative poem, "Hiawatha", written by Longfellow. I suffered with Hiawatha when he killed his first deer to prove he was a brave Indian and good hunter. I really didn't want the animal to die, either, and almost cried when Hiawatha felt the final heartbeat of the deer and felt great sorrow in what he had done.

I was happy for Minnehaha, the lovely Indian girl who became the wife of Hiawatha and admired her skills in living in the forest. How wonderful, I thought, to live off the land, to move at will, to utilize the raw material and find happiness in the close association with the earth.

How fortunate we are that Mari Sandoz gathered authenic material and along with her own personal knowledge of Indian life set down for us such picturesque and interesting literature.

We are the only farm family living on this mile, consequently it is a good place to drop unwanted cats. Within the last few weeks we have become the haven for four stray cats. Our cats have food left in their pan which I suppose gives the other cats an idea that this is a good home away from home. At any rate, we have had a variety of felines, some short-haired, one Persian, a tiger and a plain gray that have become permanent dwellers. Now and then a big yellow cat strays in and a big black one that looks like something the witches forgot on Halloween night.

When the felines become too numerous, they have a plot to overthrow the unwanted ones which begins with a loud meow, followed by tail twitching and low growls. If the unwanted cat does not take the hint and travel on, two or three cats snarl viciously, leap at the enemy and claw in a most sadistic manner.

I have looked out the window after hearing a banging at the back door only to find the fight has started on the step with a leap against the door. Out through the yard they roll and tumble, scratching and biting while fur flies in every direction.

I shake my head and can only surmise how their jungle cousins must fight. If these cats were lions or tigers, it would be most ferocious. I could not watch such fights. As it is, I say may the best cat win. It's purrrrrfectly all right with me!

Old Nixon Law Firm Financially Solvent

WASHINGTON — When there's loose money lying around in Washington, President Nixon's old law firm increasingly is available to help pick it up.

Take, for instance, the proposed $2.55 billion Washington subway, which had become side-tracked until the former Nixon firm got busy behind the scenes.

No one would suggest that Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander is going to get all $2.55 billion simply because President Nixon is in the White House and another former partner, John Mitchell, is attorney general. So far the old Nixon firm has a grip only on about $200,000.

The subway is being financed in part with an $880 million bond float, and the lawyers who handle such floats are always sure of rich profits.

While the subway was in its dreaming stages, from 1966 to 1969, the New York firm of Hawkins, Delafield and Wood did a highly acceptable job of working up plans for the bond issues. But the big monney was still to come.

Last June, the Hawkins, Delafield firm found out what kind of league they were playing in. Their bond man, Robert Ferdon, who was working on the Washington bond deal jumped over to the law firm of Mudge, Rose. Mitchell had been the firm's top municipal bond attorney, and someone unquestionably was needed to step into his shoes.

Behind closed doors, partner Frank Wood of Hawkins, Delafield and Wood fought to keep the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority as a client, citing the firm's long service.

A memorandum of the meeting prepared by WMATA's general manager, Jackson Graham, states that Wood and his colleagues "were, of course, anxious to retain the authority as a client."

But the memo, obtained by this column, ended with the story of Wood's defeat. The WMATA general manager recommended that a switch be made to Mudge, Rose. The move was officially ratified June 30.

By an amazing coincidence, the Nixon administration and the Washington, D.C., government, both subject to the President, swiftly began to break the logjams that had blocked the much-needed subway.

As Mudge, Rose began to work on the bond issues — which will enrich the firm a minimum of $200,000 in the next eight to ten years — the voices of discord became voices of harmony.

The city government yielded a bit to the freeway backers who had previously thwarted the subway. The congressional subcommittees also responded. After wrangling years of disagreement, the President was able to sign and announce a $1.15 billion authorization on December 9, only five months after his old law firm had been cut into the subway deal.

The "Metro" promises to be a beauty. Its 98 miles will serve both the suburbs and the inner city. No one questions its need.

Robert Ferdon explained to this column that he and the President's old law partners were "brought together by some friends." The WMATA said that Ferdon's know-how "was important enough for us to follow the man rather than the firm."

So everybody is happy. Except Hawkins, Delafield and Wood.

'Great Turnaround' Seen In New Amendment Not Likely To Improve Education In Ghettoes

WASHINGTON — Suddenly it seems that the great national turnaround symbolized in the Senate's approval of the Stennis amendment means that the nation is to have a more sensible and publicly acceptable approach to providing equal educational opportunity.

After all, it is being pointed out, the Stennis amendment requires that pressures be brought for ending northern school segregaion, too. Senator Ribicoff, the chief northern proponent of the amendment, says its passage notifies the non-southern states that their racial hypocrisy will no longer be tolerated and that they must eliminate the "dual society" that results in de facto segregation.

Others assert more modestly that the Stennis amendment, Mr. Nixon's dissociation of himself from the old integration policy, and other congressional developments, all mean that the time has now come to stop the vain push toward the impossible ideal of integration and to concentrate instead on improving the schools, segregated or otherwise, North and South.

Just two years ago, the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders published a voluminous report in which these ideas were exhaustively studied. Finding them, as Ribicoff and others have recently come to realize, that in 75 major central cities the "vast majority" of schools was "rigidly segregated," that the degree of segregation was rising instead of declining, and that all this had a disastrous impact on the quality of ghetto education, the commission recommended (in brief outline) for inner-city areas:

Extended early childhood education, year-around compensatory education, more and better teachers and facilities, more basic adult education to eliminate illiteracy in parents, enlarged parent and community participation in school control, better vocational education, and expanded opportunities for higher education.

Of course, none of these programs exists in remotely the necessary degree, but even if they suddenly materialized, two other necessities of greater importance were cited by the commission. The first of these was the revision of state aid formulas to assure more money per pupil in the inner city than in the suburbs.

In Detroit, as only one example, just to bring the teacher-pupil ratio in line with the state average would require (1968 statistics) 16,650 more teachers at an annual cost of $13 million. This will be difficult because like most cities, Detroit has a hard time raising revenues and the state of Michigan, which provided $135 per city pupil against $149 per suburban pupil in 1950, provided in 1964 — after the great black migration — only $189 per city pupil while aid had risen to $240 per suburban pupil, a clear gain for the white folks.

But the commission's ultimate point was that if all these improvements, which have yet to be made, were to have the desired effect, they still would have to be bolstered by the elimination of de facto segregation and racial discrimination, and by the provision of vast federal sums for these and other prposes.

So a great "improvement" of ghetto schools is not likely. In fact, Congress is at the moment ruling out busing, and voting more money for suburbs through the impact-aid program, and Nixon envisions nothing like the required federal investments. As for Ribicoff's grander vision of eliminating "dual society" in America, the disorders commission makes it obvious that what would be required is light years beyond the present knowledge, will and public resources of white America.

The idea that the turnaround of last week will somehow lead to a new policy of improving the schools and opening the ghetto, therefore, is a palpable fraud. Quite the opposite—the legal effect of the Stennis amendment and others will be to slow and hinder the attack on officially maintained dual school systems; and the psychological effect of the turnaround may well undermine the school desegregation already achieved.

The truth is that the federal effort to put an end to dual school systems in the South, slow and stumbling as it was, limited as it may have been in its impact on the whole country, hard as southerners conceived it to be on them, was SOMETHING that could be done. It was the best possible beginning on a nearly insurmountable national problem, and so it became the symbol of the need, the banner of intent. What the Great Turnaround means is that there is no longer even an intent.

General Hospital Takes No Position On St. Elizabeth Neonatal Plan

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln General Hospital board of trustees Wednesday decided it could take no position on a proposal to designate St. Elizabeth Health Center as the single neonatal care center for the city.

The proposal, developed by the Lincoln Hospital and Health Council (LHHC) executive committee, has already received the endorsement of the Bryan Memorial and St. Elizabeth Hospital boards, it was learned later.

Lincoln General board members voted to report to the hospital council that it is "unable to take a position at this time."

"After the new St. Elizabeth hospital has been in operation for a sufficient period of time, the question of the city's need for a separate newborn intensive care unit and its location should be restudied in light of the experience of St. Elizabeth and the other hospitals," according to the resolution.

Problems Revealed

The board's discussion of the proposal revealed a variety of issues and problems related to the establishment of such a unit, including a lack of definition of a proper unit, lack of a statement about the exact benefit such a unit provides, an oversupply of obstetrical beds, disagreement among physicians about allocating departments to a certain hospital and what was termed "great impatience" for an operating unit on the part of some of the public LHHC members.

A recommendation indicating that Lincoln General should have the single neonatal intensive care unit failed to gain acceptance of the Hospital and Health Council last November.

That proposal, however, also had generally allocated all of the city's pediatrics business to Bryan Memorial and all obstetrics to Lincoln General and St. Elizabeth.

Has Equipment

Lincoln General members indicated at their board meeting Wednesday that they felt the November proposal was the "proper recommendation" concerning an intensive care unit for newborns since the hospital already had much of the necessary equipment and the required physical facilities.

Lincoln General also has "additional resources" from the city and other sources "to meet community needs" without including the extra costs in regular patient charges as the other hospitals would have to do, Board President Julian Hopkins contended.

St. Elizabeth administrator Sister Antoinette told The Star later that the new hospital would add a $2,000 infusion pump and monitor to the equipment already planned for the nursery section to create a neonatal unit.

She said that there would be no additional personnel added to the obstetrics and nursery section for the intensive care unit other than the normal 24-hour professional nursing care provided. Two of the nurses, however, have had special neonatal intensive care training and it is expected that others will be receiving such training, she reported.

Lincoln General Administrator Robert Brungard told the board of trustees that every hospital has some provision for intensive care of newborns. Newborns have "not been neglected" so far, even if they had to be sent to Omaha for intensive care, he pointed out.

A separate unit, he explained, would probably improve or refine the care of an infant in the first 30 days of its life. He noted that the big expense would probably be in providing a full-time physician for the unit.

Not Defined

The hospital council, however, has not defined what is meant by intensive care of newborns, Brungard added.

Board member Don Shurtleff said that no hospital should be allowed to call a facility an intensive care unit if it does not provide any more service than the other hospitals give.

Hopkins declared that the real issue to be resolved is "how to provide the best obstetric care in the city as economically as possible."

Division Among Doctors

He pointed out that the city is oversupplied with obstetrical beds but that there also is "real division among the doctors concerning the elimination of obstetrics at any of the three hospitals."

He said the community, the physicians and the hospitals jointly will have to make a decision about a neonatal care unit.

"Unless boards are willing to take positions in the public interest of providing services in the most economical manner, we are going to be back where we were before the hospital council was organized," board member Robert Guenzel declared.

No Effect Seen

In other business Brungard told the board that he did not think the introduction of two-year training programs for registered nurses would immediately affect the three-year diploma school at Lincoln General.

However, he pointed out, in the future there will be a need for some kind of subsidy to the diploma schools and standard accreditation of each of the different kinds of nurses training for transferring credits.

The board also:

—Received a $3,500 gift from the auxiliary to purchase a fifth cardiac crash cart for the hospital.

—Heard that the hospital average daily census for January was an all-time high of 201 patients or 89% of capacity. Medical-surgical occupancy has been over 90%, Brungard reported.

HAND Office Seeks Food Stamp Center

The Clinton area Home and Neighborhood Development (HAND) committee feels that the HAND office at 1100 No. 27th should be designated an outreach center for the food stamp distribution program, HAND officials said Wednesday.

According to the HAND officials, committee members believe that the office would be more accessible to low-income people in the Clinton area than the present outreach center at the 18th and Q St. fire station.

Members feel that since HAND serves low-income people, the HAND office should be helping to provide the additional services of a once-a-month food stamp distribution center, HAND officials said.

The committee members indicated at a recent meeting that the HAND office would be within walking distance for most of Clinton and Malone area residents, as well as located between two area grocery stores.

Colonel Molzer To Conduct Band Clinic At Hastings

Hastings — The music department of Hastings College will be host on Saturday to an estimated 300 high school bandsmen and directors for a day-long stage band clinic.

The clinic will be conducted by Lt. Col. Victor J. Molzer, native of Lincoln, who is currently commander and director of the North American Air Defense Command "Cavalcade of Music" band in Colorado Springs, Colo. Duane Johnson, director of the Hastings College band, is the faculty member responsible for the event.

Seventeen high school bands from the area have enrolled for the clinic. The Hastings College stage band will be used as a demonstration group during the clinic program.

The purchase of the U.S. equipment is expected to cost $72 million, with interest charges.

Pontiac
announces the beginning of tomorrow.

The all-new Firebirds are here.

There are four. Why?
People have different ideas of what a sports car should be. Incorporating all of those ideas into one car is equivalent to putting an elephant's trunk, a camel's hump and stripes on a giraffe. You end up with a creature that doesn't do anything well.

So . . . four Firebirds.

Firebird (1). An economical model.

Firebird Esprit (2). A luxurious model.

Firebird Formula 400 (3). The Firebird built for drivers.

Firebird Trans Am (4). Our ultimate.

Four distinctly different Firebirds for drivers who agree on only one thing. A sports car.

Comfortable seating for four. Period.
Three have always been a crowd. Especially in the back seat of a sports car. So the new Firebirds have two bucket-type seats in back. Plus two bucket seats up front.

Four very comfortable passengers, each in an individual seat.

And a more comfortable ride.
The rear seats gave us room to raise the drive tunnel between them. Which gives the suspension room to travel when you hit a bump. Which, in the Firebird and Esprit, produces a ride that many a full-size sedan would be proud of.

Formula 400 and Trans Am don't have it quite as soft. Enthusiasts like a stiffer ride. Stiffer springs and shocks provide it.

A ride is nothing without quick handling.
And we didn't compromise handling one bit. We made the Wide-Track wider. Made fade-resistant front disc brakes standard. And for improved cornering, we installed big, thick stabilizer bars up front. And added rear stabilizer bars to the Formula 400 and Trans Am.

Engines to match.
If you read our descriptions of the four Firebirds, the engine lineup makes supreme sense. The basic Firebird has a 250-cubic-inch Six. Esprit—a 350-cubic-inch, regular-gas V-8. Formula 400 has a 400-cubic-inch V-8. And Trans Am features a 400-cubic-inch Ram Air V-8.

Endura bumpers that absorb bumps.
Pontiac's Endura material is probably the best thing to happen to bumpers since bumpers. It's a resilient, rubber-like material that looks like painted metal. It resists dings, dents and chips. And it positively won't rust.

A tough bumper. Covering the entire front end of each Firebird.

The decisive victory of functionalism over faddism.
Instrument panels, for instance. Easy to read. With easy-to-reach controls. We even designed the panels so that any light bulb can be changed in 60 seconds. By you. Without lying on the floor.

But you'll undoubtedly want to find out for yourself. Please do. At a Pontiac dealer's. Then you'll know our "beginning of tomorrow" claim is more than a boast.

New, even for Pontiac.

(We take the fun of driving seriously.)

Law Library Gets Patents Quarterly, Calls Dip

The Nebraska State Law Library had more calls for the U.S. Patents Quarterly before than after it acquired the 161-volume set.

"It's probably because lawyers and other persons don't know we now have the books," Deputy State Librarian Dorothy Hammond said.

"Over the years we had numerous calls, and the word probably hasn't gotten out the state library now has the Quarterly."

The Quarterly reports all cases regarding patents, copyrights and trademarks that have been involved in court decisions over the years.

The set, costing $1,500, includes eleven digests and two loose-leaf supplements of current cases.

"It's the only publicly owned set in Nebraska," said Mrs. Hammond, "but I understand there are two privately owned sets in Omaha."

She said the state library has maintained copies of the U.S. Patent Office's official Gazette over the years, but the case-law reports should be a welcome addition to lawyers and students doing patent law research.

Per Pupil Contracting Not Permitted In Rural Districts

Class VI school districts may not contract on a per pupil cost basis for the education of seventh and eighth grade pupils of Class I school districts, the State Justice Department said Wednesday.

The department said no statutory authority existed for per pupil cost contracts although the Class VI districts could enter into other types of contracts for the education of the pupils of Class I districts located within the Class VI areas.

Class VI districts are rural high school only districts, and Class I districts include rural districts with elementary grades only.

The opinion was prepared by Assistant Attorney General Harold Mosher for W. E. Mumby of Harrison, the Sioux County attorney.

Mumby also asked if county superintendents had a right to vote on matters before a county high school district board of education. Mosher's opinion was yes.

Request For Zoning Change For Lumber Firm Opposed

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended denial of a zoning change sought for on property south of Nebraska Hwy. by a lumber yard chain.

The Wickes Corp. is seeking the change from A-1 Single Family to H-2 Highway Commercial on 12 acres south of the highway in the area of 33rd St. extended.

The firm wants to build a lumber yard at the site.

Agreed With Director

But planning commissioners agreed with Planning Director Doug Brogden that approval of the zoning change would make it difficult to refuse similar requests in the immediate vicinity, an area subject to flooding.

Brogden had told commissioners that approving the change would complicate the problems of flood plain regulations as well as reduce the probability of the development of lands already zoned for business in the general neighborhood.

Robert Putney, a real estate agent, told commissioners last week that the firm wants to build a lumber yard on the south side of Lincoln but can find no other suitable location.

Approval Urged

Commissioners recommended approval of an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would have the effect of permitting taller apartment buildings in E Multiple Dwelling districts.

The amendment reduces the front yard requirement for buildings exceeding 45 feet in height.

If adopted, the amendment would require no increase in the depth of a front yard if a building exceeds 45 feet.

Present ordinances say that all yard requirements must be increased one foot for each two feet that the building exceeds 45 feet.

Better Way

Commissioners said that approving the E Multiple zoning amendment would be a better way to encourage development of apartment buildings near the downtown than creating a new zoning classification, called J Multiple Dwelling.

The commission then unanimously voted to recommend denial on both the proposed J Multiple zoning classification and a change of zone to J Multiple on property on either side of H St. between 10th and 13th and on either side of 13th south to G St.

The new classification would have permitted businesses in apartment complexes and was less restrictive than E Multiple in terms of parking, intensity of use and yard requirements.

Other business:

—Recommended approval of a preliminary and final plat of Normal Acres Replat, 46th and Newton Sts.

—Deferred action on final plat of Lakemont, 56th to 59th and Pioneers Blvd.

—Recommended approval of a proposed vacation of portion of N.W. 12th St. adiacent to relocated N.W. 12th St. at Interstate 80 and Burlington Railroad.

—Recommended approval of a special permit to extend non-conforming use at 21st and G Sts., requested by L. W. Hannigan.

—Recommended approval of construction and operation of a child day care center at 70th and Ammon, requested by Four Seasons Equity Corp.

Ben M. Prieb Resigns Post With C Of C

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Wednesday announced the resgination of Ben M. Prieb, for three years manager of the activities of the chamber's Lincoln Center division.

Prieb's duties will be assumed on March 1 by Robert Stuewig, now chamber public relations director. Stuewig will manage the division which includes the Lincoln Center Development Association, the Lincoln Park and Shop Association, the Lincoln Promotion Council and the Lincoln Center Service Co.

Prieb will become vice president of TELCO, a holding company which includes Midwest GDO, a 22-state distributor of automatic garage door openers, retail distribution of residential and commercial underground sprinkler systems and distribution of security surveillance equipment.

In Wednesday action the chamber board of directors:

—Approved a sports and recreation committee resolution favoring adequate heating facilities for Woods Park swimming pool to be financed by the city, or by private citizen donations if city funds are not available.

—Went on record in support of the Yellow Cab-Capitol Cab request for a 15% increase in fares. The cab company petition will receive a March 3 hearing before the State Railway Commission.

—Agreed that a letter be sent the Civil Aeronautics Board conveying chamber support of Frontier Airlines' request that additional subsidies be granted regional airlines serving sparse markets.

—Ordered that a resolution be drawn in tribute to Nathan Gold, longtime Lincoln business and civic leader who died in Florida earlier in the week.

ROBERT VAN VALKENBURG

Van Valkenburg Files For Unicam

Robert J. Van Valkenburg of Lincoln filed Wednesdaay for the Legislature's 26th District seat and pledged his efforts and support toward legislation giving Nebraskans "true efficiency in government and fiscal responsibility."

A first-time candidate, the 35-year-old Van Valkenburg said the most important responsibility of the office is "to accurately, equitably and adequately represent the people of the district."

Van Valkenburg said he is also interested in increased emphasis in getting new industries for the state, training the mentally less-fortunate into a valuable resource, and insuring that "both sides" of controversial issues be presented to students at the tax-supported universities and colleges.

A chemist at Goodyear's Lincoln plant, Van Valkenburg is a graduate of Oklahoma State University, a director of the Tabitha Home and Tabitha Village, a National Guard helicopter pilot, and a member of Capital City Footprinters.

He and Wally Barnett Jr., deputy state fire marshal, are seeking the seat being vacated by Sen. John Knight of Lincoln.

Lincoln Police Investigating Rash Of Thefts

Lincoln police are investigating four thefts involving auto parts, construction material and one theft of a microphone from a church.

The microphone, valued at $170 was taken from the pulpit of Westminster Presbyterian Church at 2110 Sheridan Blvd.

Taken from Mowbray Buick at 421 No. 48th were three car transmissions, one rear differential and a cylinder head, for a total loss of $410.

Ninth Street Auto Sales, 420 No. 9th, reported a loss of $470 in tires, wheels, bucket seats, tools and a tape player from a customer's car.

Police reports said the intruders apparently entered the building by prying up an overhead door and taking screws from a lock on an inside door.

Also reported stolen were 47 five-gallon buckets of dry wall compound from the construction site of the new Ramada Inn at Cornhusker Highway and Interstate 80.

A foreman told police the compound was worth $235.

New Camaro. Feb. 26th.

We've never announced a car at this time before.
But then nobody's ever announced a car like this before.

Super Hugger

If it were just an ordinary sportster, we might have introduced it at the ordinary time.

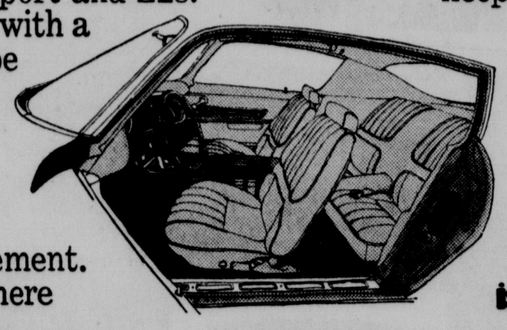

But we didn't.

And as you can see, time was on our side.

Because we didn't bother with the simulated air scoops. Or any other put-ons that might put you off.

Instead we took the time to build a whole new car from the ground up. In four distinctive versions: Standard, Rally Sport, Super Sport and Z28.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance. So it hovers a few short inches from the pavement. Right down there with Corvette.

To that we added more hood. A faster fastback. More window area. And wider doors for easier entry.

On RS models, there's even a resilient bumper that surrounds the grille. To protect against nicks and knocks.

Compare the new Camaro with any competitive car in its field.

If you can find one.

Two extra buckets. No extra bucks.

Most sportsters give you two buckets in front. And a sofa in back. We've done them two better.

The back seat sofa is out. In are two rear bucket-styled cushions.

Up front the buckets are deeply contoured to put you firmly in place. And keep you there. Even in tight turns.

The instrument panel is just as functional. It's flat black and wraps around. With enough dials and instrumentation to make you think you're piloting a 747.

Only with this one you don't need a flight crew.

The special handling is built right in.

Camaro always had a tough reputation when it came to taking on tight turns. Now we made it tougher.

With a forward-mounted steering linkage and an improved front and rear suspension that give the new Camaro a leech-like grip on the road.

It's something other cars will have a tough time coming to grips with.

What motivates all this?

Six power plants up to the 350-hp Turbo-Jet 396 you can order. And four transmissions.

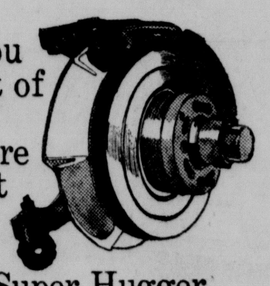

Pick the combination that best suits your driving.

Then go pick on an open road.

Standard disc brakes. You stop as well as you go.

It's only natural.

With all that go, you want an equal amount of stop. You've got it.

Front disc brakes are standard. For less heat buildup. And more resistance to fade.

New Camaro. The Super Hugger.

Other cars always feared it might come to this. And they were right.

Only their timing was wrong.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Motorcycle Provides New Thrill

By ROBERT PETERSON

It's astonishing to discover the variety of diversions sampled by modern seniors. Those past the half century mark used to stick pretty close to such mild sports as bowling, fishing, golf, and shuffleboard. But nowadays men at all stops on the age scale can be found savoring a string of strenuous sports from scuba diving to motorcycling.

"When I was a boy I wanted a motorcycle more than anything — but never got one," writes Pierce Witte of Peoria, Ill. "Then I finished school, went to work, got married, and put my motorcycle dreams on ice. For the next few decades my job and raising eight children took most of my time and money.

"But I never outgrew that yen for a motorcycle, and last year at age 51 I broke down and bought one. Three of my sons are cycle enthusiasts and were glad to see me get wheels of my own.

"I've been riding a motorcycle about a year now and can truthfully say it has added many new dimensions and much zest to my life. Weather permitting, I ride the six miles to and from work every day. On weekends, my wife jumps on the seat behind me and we go for a jaunt through the countryside.

"It's a glorious sensation to feel the fresh cool air striking your face — it's something akin to flying and not a fraction as expensive. So if any of your readers are looking for new thrills after 50 urge them to give motorcycling a try."

Thanks, Mr. Witte. I've always hankered for a motorcycle, too. Now all I've got to do is re-generate my courage to hop astride one of these thundering two-wheelers.

Clubs for older people have sprung into being in communities across the nation. These clubs meet a great need in providing a place where older folks can go regularly to meet others and enjoy special activities.

Problems sometimes arise in these clubs because of age differences. While members can be as young as 60, some may be closer to the century mark. Usually a majority of members are in their 60s and 70s and may wish livelier diversions than those appealing to much older members.

What's to be done? The answer is to create a club within a club. For instance, the Senior Citizen Club at Ackley, Iowa, has members from 60 to 95. But officials noted that those past 75 often had physical disabilities which made them content just to sit, visit, and watch others. So, those in the age 60 to 75 age group formed a club of their own known as the Jolly Elders. Members of this club attend regular meetings of the main club but also meet once or twice monthly on their own for cards, potluck suppers, special film programs and sing-alongs.

CARMICHAEL

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Just had a little argument with your husband—your wife—your boss? Cool off before you take the wheel of your car. Emotional upsets can be an important factor in causing traffic accidents.

If you are still thinking about that argument — if you are depressed or in a mood where you do not seem to care what happens — if you are worried about a personal problem — think twice before you drive.

If you let what is troubling you cause an accident, you or some other person may be seriously injured or killed.

Sinclair Submits Low Bid For State Gasoline

Atlantic Richfield's Sinclair Division was the apparent low bidder at 20.76 cents per gallon for high-octane gasoline for the Department of Roads and state-owned motor vehicles.

Administrative Assistant Robert Marland of the Department of Administrative Services (DAS) said Wednesday Sinclair's bid was 1.2 cents under the next lowest bid.

Comparable bids of 10 other oil companies for Lincoln delivery ranged from 21.97 to 23.32 cents per gallon.

Marland said the bids are being analyzed by the roads department before acceptance.

The Sinclair bid on the state's estimated requirement of 3,350,000 gallons for the next 12 months ranged from 20.76 cents at Lincoln to 22.88 cents at the furtherest delivery point, Ainsworth. Other specified delivery points are North Platte, Norfolk, Bridgeport and Grand Island.

"It's the first time in recent years," Marland said, "that a single oil company may furnish the gasoline requirements for the entire state."

Last year, he said, gallonage and delivery points were divided among several bidders.

Marland said the low bid of 20.76 cents per gallon for high-octane gas (98 octane or better) is only eight-tenths of a cent higher than the 19.97 cents paid last year for regular gas.

High-Octane

"We feel the switch to high-octane for all state vehicles will result in lowered maintenance costs, better mileage and better results from the high-performance engines, particularly for the State Patrol," he said.

Marland also said higher octane gasoline will insure "all state-operated cars will remain within the auto manufacturer's warranty."

Under a billing arrangement between DAS and the highway department, all state-owned cars are fueled at gasoline pumps operated across the state by the roads department.

One-Third Here

Of the estimated 3.3 million gallons used by the state annually, approximately one-third is pumped at Lincoln.

Marland said the state is saving nearly $6,000 per month by requiring departments and agencies to obtain their gasoline at state pumps rather than commercial service stations.

This figure, he said, does not include the highway department and the patrol, which have used bulk-purchased gas for years.

Knapple To Seek Ed Board Seat

Francis Y. Knapple of Omaha Wednesday became the first candidate for the Eighth District seat on the State Board of Education currently held by John Londay of Omaha.

In other filings, Everett H. Stevens of Omaha signed to oppose Richard L. Edgerton of Omaha for the 10th District spot in the Unicameral, held during the past session by Republican gubernatorial candidate Clifton Batchelder of Omaha.

Papers indicating Stuart F. Hansen of Norfolk intends to seek the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor arrived also Wednesday in the office of the Secretary of State.

Hansen was delegate to the Republican national convention in 1968.

Around World In 4 Minutes

Marietta, Ga. (UPI) — Lockheed-Georgia reported Wednesday the world's largest aircraft, the C5, flew around the world in just four minutes — by circling the North Pole.

The flight was made in 55-degree-below-zero temperatures and at an altitude of 33,000 feet. It was part of an evaluation test to determine how well the plane will function in extremely cold weather.

Smaller Axle Load Limits In Effect

Uniform axle load limits went into effect Wednesday on 895 miles of state and federal highwways in Nebraska in an attempt to prevent road damage during spring thaws.

Charles Nutter, maintenance engineer for the State Roads Department, said the limits would be in effect until sometime in April or the first part of May, depending on weather conditions.

"We hope that we can reduce the number that have to be restricted by our increased construction program," Nutter said, indicating that limits are not necessary on newer roads.

The new limits, effective at noon, were 14,000 pounds per single axle and 24,000 pounds per tandum axle, down from 20,000 pounds per single axle and 34,000 pounds per tandum axle.

The limits cover 697 miles of state highway, 46 miles of U.S. highway and 152 miles of state spur connections, Nutter said.

Testing experts actually determined the load carrying capability of certain stretches of road in setting the load limits, he said. The selection depends on the type of construction involved and the surfacing.

The limits will be enforced by personnel of the state scales and the State Patrol, which has the prerogative to require a seemingly overweight truck to be weighed, Nutter said.

Many Man-Days Lost To Strikes

Washington (UPI) — The Labor Department said Wednesday 3.7 million man-days of labor were lost last month because of strikes — the highest figure for any January since 1946.

It said 233,000 workers were off their jobs, four-fifths of them at General Electric and National Airlines.

Lincoln Postal Receipts Rise

The Lincoln Post Office reports postal receipts of $754,185.70 for the period Jan. 10 to Feb. 6, 1970. This total represents an increase of 10.8% over the same period in 1969.

Receipts to date for the year are $7,003,204.71, an increase of 24.3% over last year.

Jobs Reserved

Milan, Italy (AP) — Males have lost another bastion. The municipal council ruled that 20 of 200 traffic-directing jobs must be reserved for women. The invaders of the former all-male domain are to be assigned near schools.

County Demo Fund-Raising Dinner Slated

All declared Democratic candidates for governor, United States senator and First District congressman will be invited to address a county party fund-raising dinner in Lincoln March 9.

The event will be held at Gateway Auditorium, beginning at 7 p.m., according to Lancaster County Chairman Loren Belker.

The dinner was rescheduled after Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming was unable to keep a scheduled speaking appearance for an earlier date.

Tickets will be $10, Belker said, and all tickets purchased for the McGee dinner date will be honored.

Proceeds will be used to finance a Democratic campaign headquarters for the general election, Belker said. Those facilities will be available to all party candidates.

James OHara of Lincoln will serve as dinner chairman.

Wyoming Mine Plan Announced

Houston (AP) — Plans for construction of a uranium mine 25 miles northwest of Douglas, Wyo., were announced Wednesday by Humble Oil & Refining Co.

Groundbreaking for stripping operations is scheduled next fall with production to start in 1972. The plant will have a capacity to process 2,000 tons of ore daily by the time it reaches full production in 1973.

The facilities will require about 110 employes.

C. G. Herrington, vice president, said the facilities will include those for converting the ore into yellowcake, the form in which uranium is sold.

Herrington said all planning has been done to permit return of the mined area to as near its original condition as practical.

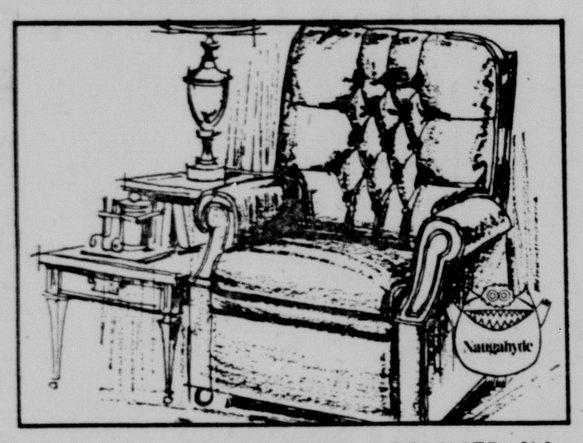

Albanian is spoken by 3 million persons.

Handbooks Prepared

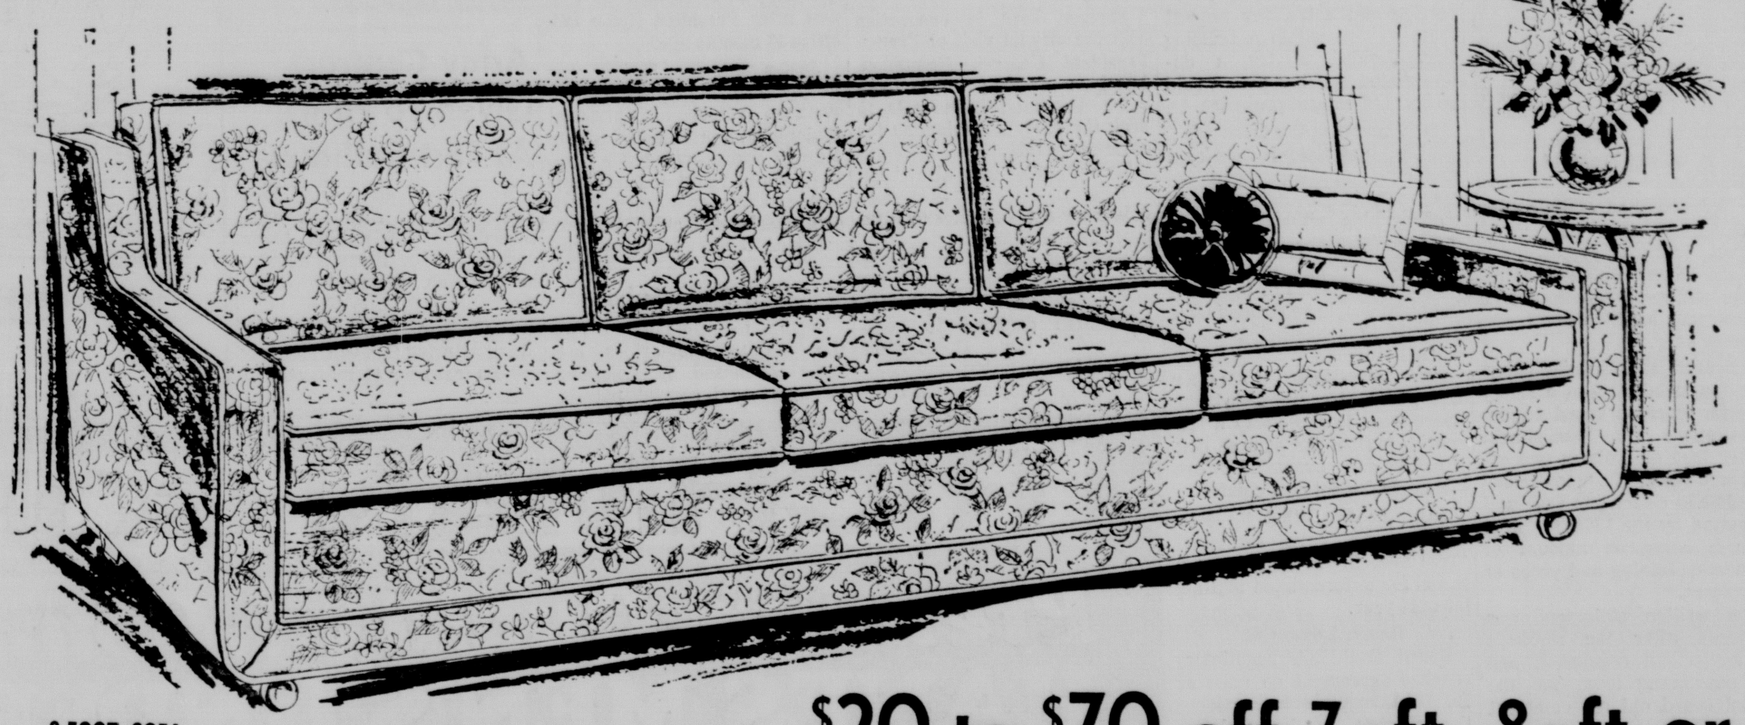

Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia (AP) — The government is preparing handbooks for thousands of Yugoslavs who plan to go abroad to work. The book will explain the workers' rights in various countries and living conditions. A half million Yugoslavs already work abroad.

Differentiated Staff Plan Gets LEA OK

. . . If One Index Salary Slate Used

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Negotiators for the Lincoln Education Association Wednesday agreed to allow individual school buildings to voluntarily choose a differentiated staffing plan for next year provided one index salary scheduule will be established as the base pay for all teachers.

An index factor would be determined for additional pay to persons with increased responsibility and length of contract year for those on a differentiated staffing plan, according to the LEA proposal.

The written statement of agreement and counterproposal from the LEA was given to Supt. John Prasch without comment just as he began the summary of the third LEA-Board of Education negotiations session.

Board Proposal

The school board has proposed the differentiated staffing plan in which teachers would assume varying levels of responsibility in the classroom and would serve different lengths of a school year for the second consecutive year.

However, the board's objective was installation of a salary plan for teachers based on differentiations in assignment rather than on training and experience alone. The index salary schedule in effect this year and supported by the LEA for next year is based on amount of academic training and years of experience.

The written statement was disclosed after the session's discussion had concluded, and the negotiating team for the school board did not comment on the proposals.

Statement

The statement said "if we can agree to the building option idea and to a joint committee recommendations for implementation; if we can agree on one basic salary schedule with an index factor allocated for added responsibility and added time under some categories of personnel classification on the differentiated staffing plan, then when we have some specific building proposals to consider, each of these would be considered on its own merits."

The board team had emphasized in its presentation earlier that each building should be allowed to develop its own plan for differentiated staffing and should voluntarily choose to operate under the system.

Personnel director Dr. Carroll Sawin speaking for the board, also stressed that no staff member would be asked to take a cut in pay, no specific model for a school would be recommended, no teacher would be compelled to assume a position with additional time and responsibility without volunteering and a transfer request from anyone within a building that decided to try a differentiated staffing plan would be honored without prejudice.

Numerous Questions

LEA negotiators asked numerous questions about the operation of a differentiated staffing plan without receiving answers from the board team. Board representatives indicated that the mechanics of the staffing plans should be decided by a joint implementation committee.

LEA president Gunnar Overgaard strongly urged the board team to allow only a few schools to start the plan so that it can be fully evaluated before the entire district participates.

Sawin reported that three or four schools have expressed "real interest" in developing a model for differentiated staffing for next year.

Reach Agreement

Board and LEA negotiators reached agreement on most of the LEA requests for revising the districts academic leave policy for staff members, except for the number of year's service required for eligibility and the salary to be paid while an employe is on leave.

A counterproposal to the LEA request for two days of paid personal leave for each employe per year essentially restated the existing emergency leave policy. The board team objected to the LEA request for personal leave without having to state a reason.

SARGENT SHRIVER

3 Detroit Policemen And Guard Acquitted In 3 Youths' Deaths

Flint, Mich. (AP) — Three white Detroit policemen and a Negro private guard were acquitted by a federal jury Wednesday night of conspiring to violate the civil rights of 10 persons at the Algiers Motel during the 1967 Detroit riot.

A gasp came from the relatives and friends of the defendants when the verdict was read. An all-white jury of six men and six women deliberated for nine hours before returning the verdict.

Found innocent were Ronald August, 30; Robert Paille, 34, and David Senak, 25, all suspended white Detroit police officers, and Melvin Dismukes, 26, a Negro private guard.

August's face turned red at the verdict and he closed his eyes. His wife, who is pregnant, began crying.

Mother Bitter

The mother of one of the three black teen-agers who were slain at the Algiers Motel, however, expressed bitterness at the verdict.

"The judge is a dirty so-and-so," said Rebecca Pollard, whose 19-year-old son, Auburey, was shot at the motel.

The four defendants were accused under an 1871 civil rights law of conspiring to deprive eight Negro youths and two white girls of their civil rights on July 26, 1967, during a search for reported snipers at the Algiers Motel. The charge alleged they beat, threatened and intimidated the 10 persons.

Dismukes told newsmen that every place he goes he carries a gun with him.

'Just Beginning'

"This is a great load off my mind," he said, "but when I leave here it's just the beginning — I don't know what is waiting for me out in the dark."

Special Asst. U.S. Atty. Kenneth McIntyre, who led the prosecutions, said he had considered himself the underdog in the case from the beginning.

"I think we had a good case," he said. "I would have loved to have had a conviction."

After the verdict was returned, the four defendants told newsmen they would seek to be reinstated on the Detroit police force.

Shriver To Quit Ambassadorship

Washington (AP) — Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy, is resigning as ambassador to France, it was learned Wednesday night.

Shriver, here in connection with the official visit of French President Georges Pompidou, has been under pressure from some Maryland Democrats to seek the party's nomination for governor in 1970.

Shriver, 54, has also been mentioned as a possible candidate for the U.S. Senate from New York or Illinois.

When asked whether Shriver had already submitted his resignation, a White House spokesman declined to comment. The State Department had said earlier that any comment on the subject would have to come first from the White House.

Shriver, first nominated as ambassador to France by former President Lyndon B. Johnson, was retained in that post after President Nixon toik office 13 months ago.

Just a year ago, Shriver was deeply involved in Nixon's initial overseas venture in personal diplomacy, a presidential trip to Europe which included a two-day stop in Paris and meetings with the former French President Charles de Gaulle.

Prior to his ambassadorial assignment, Shriver had served in the Kennedy administration as first director of the Peace Corps and then was assigned to be first director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Fifth Person Indicted In Killing Of Yablonski

Silous Huddleston

Local 3228 President

Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — Silous Huddleston, president of a United Mine Workers union local in Tennessee, was indicted Wednesday as a fifth conspirator in the slaying of UMW insurgent Joseph A. Yablonski.

The federal grand jury said Huddleston, 61, of La Follette, Tenn., was involved in financing an alleged six-month murder plot and gave advice to other conspirators.

His daughter, Annette Gilly, 29, and her husband, Paul Gilly, 36, were among four persons indicted previously on federal conspiracy charges.

Appearance Brief

Huddleston was arrested as he walked away from a federal court building after making a brief third appearance before the grand jury. Moments before his arrest, he told newsmen he answered no questions before the jury and did not consider himself a suspect.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover identified Huddleston as president of UMW Local 3228 in La Follette and said his arrest was part of a continuing nationwide investigation into Yablonski's death.

All five persons indicted are charged with conspiring to interfere with the rights of a union member and obstruct justice by killing Yablonski.

Indicted earlier with Gilly and his wife were Claude E. Vealey, 26, and Aubran W. Martin, 21. All four are from the Cleveland area and face murder charges in Pennsylvania in the Yablonski case.

Hard-Fought Campaign

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were found shot to death in their Clarksville, Pa., home Jan. 5, less than one month after Yablonski failed to oust incumbent UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle in a hard-fought election campaign.

The grand jury charged that Huddleston and the Gillys worked together to organize and finance the plot to kill Yablonski.

The jury said Gilly made several trips to La Follette last October to "discuss terms of the conspiracy" with Huddleston.

Two Calls

Huddleston is alleged to have given the conspirators advice by telephone in two separate calls last October and November. The jury said he and the Gillys had a fund to finance the slaying, but did not say where the money came from.

The jury said Huddleston was among alleged conspirators who met in La Follette last Nov. 21 "with persons unknown to the grand jury."

Huddleston was also accused of inviting several persons whose names were unknown to join in the alleged conspiracy.

One Motorist Washes Out In Car Wash

Chicopee, Mass. (AP) — A Chicopee motorist felt pretty well washed up before he left a car wash Tuesday.

It seems that as a car drove into the wash, the passenger heard an attendant yell: "Put it in neutral."

The passenger, mistakenly believing it was his car being referred to, reached over in front of the driver and shifted into what he believed was neutral, but what was in fact, reverse.

The car backed up, striking a car entering the car wash. There was no great damage, and the occupants of the car were told to take it out of reverse and put it in neutral. Trying to do that, the driver then put it in drive, and the car sped through the wash, coming out the other end still covered with soap.

The driver was told to run the car through again, and before it was allowed in, the attendant had the driver roll his window down so he could personally check to see that the car was in neutral. He also asked the driver to keep his hands folded on his lap.

He did, but in so doing, he forgot to close the window.

Penitentiary Wins National Contest

Manila (UPI) — The local penitentiary in Legaspi City, 350 miles south of Manila, is one of the cleanest and best-run jailhouses in the Philippines.

Virtually all inmates are engaged in gardening and making bric-a-brac. Last year, the jail won an award in the Philippines' national beautification contest.

ALL THIS AND 10,000 WALGREEN EVERYDAY DISCOUNT WONDERPRICES, TOO!

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

We came up to the green grape valleys these springy days to taste the wine.

The country is bursting with spring. A washed blue sky over the green edges of the Bay. The pastures are full of contented cows who must give contented milk.

A cow cannot afford to worry. Having four or five stomachs, the cow cannot risk ulcers.

The oaks are emerald. The pines are smoke blue. Little signs appear in front of trim white farmhouses; "Fresh Eggs For Sale."

It's the custom to leap from winery to winery. Tasting the wines. All wineries have a tasting room.

Some years ago I went down to the little Burgundy town of Nuits-St. George in France. I was initiated into the Confreries des Chevaliers du Tastevins — the snobbish Society of Wine-Tasting Knights.

When I come up here I wear my knightly ribbon in my buttonhole.

A ribbon in the buttonhole puts you one up with the haughty waiter. He shows you the bottle — "A very good year, sir," he murmurs.

He wraps it in a napkin. Pulls the cork. Pours a dollop in your glass.

Now you roll this against the light. You sniff it suspiciously.

You take a sip.

Grasp your throat and cry: "Arrrgh! Are you trying to poison me, man? It's over the hill. Fetch a bottle of the '61!"

☆ ☆ ☆

It's grand picnic country. Here man can peaceably assemble with the ants and the salami to petition the household government: "What! You forgot the corkscrew?"

Take some sour French bread. Stop at the cheese factory. Pick up a big round Brie on the way.

"That's good wine," we said, fingering the ribbon in the buttonhole. A Knight is courteous. Just like a Boy Scout.

It's a big thing for small homeowners to put up their own wine. You sell your grapes to the winery. Then you get some bottles and put your own label on them.

Give it to your guests and say: "A little young yet But there's a certain robust quality to youth, don't you think?"

If he says no, break a bottle over his head.

☆ ☆ ☆

There are many little things to do with wine we learn in Knight school. Wrap the bottle in a napkin. Screw in the corkscrew gently. Now — place the bottom of the bottle against the wall. Pull it. Gently, gently.

Now unscrew the cork and sniff it.

Pour a little in your own glass. Roll it against the light. Sniff it. Taste it. Pour some for the guest.

Say: "What do you think?"

This puts him over the wine barrel. He doesn't know what to think.

☆ ☆ ☆

We had a little Mexican lunch. They've got an enormous rack of wines. You walk over and choose your own.

If anybody pulls that bottle-against-the-wall, what-do-you-think, here's what you do; ignore the glass. Grab the bottle by the neck and take a big jolt.

Say, "I think that kind of glassware annoys the delicate flavor."

Let him think that over.

Mix-Mate is so different, your present dry can't compare to it.

Until now, there just hasn't been a dry dog food specially made to mix with canned ALPO, or with any meat. (Strange but true. Of all the dog foods you can buy, not one is designed solely to mix with meat.) That's why, if you do mix, new ALPO Mix-Mate is the true ideal mixer.

Mix-Mate is different. It's the only mixer based on rice . . . gentle, digestible rice. That's why Mix-Mate is a more digestible mixer. Yes, Mix-Mate costs a little more, but its high digestibility allows your dog to use it more efficiently. You can feed him less and still meet his energy requirements.

How do dogs like new Mix-Mate? They like it better Tests prove dogs prefer Mix-Mate 2-to-1 over the leading regular dry.

If you mix . . . mix the new better way with the best mixer ever made. ALPO Mix-Mate.

Deep South Launches Anti-Integration Barrage

©The New York Times

By JAMES T. WOOTEN

Atlanta — Legislators in the Deep South have resurrected an old, previously impotent technique of resistance to school integration by launching a new barrage of state laws designed to impede or prevent the enforcement of recent federal court orders.

Their efforts face challenges from civil rights organizations and appear destined for constitutional tests in the same courts that have struck down similar attempts in the past.

The governors of Georgia and Louisiana have signed bills which forbid desegregation on any basis other than freedom of choice, a method ruled conditionally unacceptable by the U.S. Supreme Court. The legislatures of Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina are expected to adopt similar measures.

The new spate of legislation purportedly is patterned after a New York statute which bans the busing of students to achieve racial balance except when deemed advisable by an elected school board.

Neither the laws enacted by Georgia and Louisiana nor those under consideration in the other three states are exact replicas of the New York statute which is currently the target of two separate legal attacks.

Much of the impetus for the new legislation has apparently been generated by recent southern victories in Congress.

Amendments proposed by Sen. John Stennis and Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, Democrats of Mississippi, have passed, prohibiting federal funds for busing and directing equal enforcement of integration standards against both de facto (by residential patterns) and de jure (by law) segregation.

Ironically, most of the new proposals are based on the concept that no student, regardless of his color, creed or national origin, may be denied enrollment in any public school. They are the first antisegregation laws ever proposed or passed in the Deep South.

All Methods Banned

The Georgia statute, signed by Gov. Lester G. Maddox, forbids not only busing, but also every other method of increased integration ordered by the federal courts and recommended by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, including school closings, zoning, pairing, and student and teacher transfers.

The Louisiana law, approved by Gov. John J. McKeithen, resembles the New York law except in its omission of the provision for a local school board decision on student assignments and busing. Its impact is essentially to provide for a statewide adherence to a freedom-of-choice pattern of school desegregation.

The Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc., of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has promised to challenge the validity of the new laws wherever they are in force.

"We will challenge them wherever and whenever any state or local official attempts to use them to circumvent the intent and the letter of the law," said Michael Meltsner, an associate counsel for the Fund.

State Won't Approve Box Butte Reappraisal

State Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil reports he cannot approve a recent scientific reappraisal conducted in Box Butte County by the Brandt Appraisal Co. of Scottsbluff.

Values applied to sandhills grazing land by the appraisers have been the problem, McNeil indicated.

Nebraska law requires counties periodically to contract for property appraisals for tax purposes.

Hearings Held

In January McNeil held public hearings, also required by law, on reappraisals in Dawes and Box Butte Counties.

The tax commissioner has approved the Dawes County appraisal, made by the Walters Appraisal Co.

According to McNeil, the Walters firm determined the actual value for tax purposes of typical sandhills grazing land in Dawes County at $42 per acre.

$33 Per Acre

Just across the line to the south, in Box Butte County, the Brandt firm placed a $33 per acre value on comparable land.

Soon to be completed is a reappraisal in Sheridan County, which adjoins Box Butte to the east. McNeil said he has been advised that the Walters company, conducting the Sheridan County appraisal, has placed a $52 per acre value on such land.

McNeil said he understands the Brandt firm determines actual value on rural real estate under a formula giving equal weight to market value and income production or potential production. But the commissioner noted that the same formula is not used in valuing urban property.

A. Liberator Reveals Plan To Run Again

Americus Liberator of Valentine has informed Secretary of State Frank Marsh he intends to make another presidential bid in 1972.

Liberator, a retired cowboy, reached the all-star presidential preference primary election ballot in Nebraska in 1968 as a petition candidate on the Republican ticket.

He obtained at least 100 petition signatures in each of the state's three congressional districts to earn a ballot place that time.

Liberator has asked Marsh if he again must go through the petitioning process.

The secretary of state is authorized to place on the presidential primary ballot the names of nationally-recognized contenders.

Deputy Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann says that "as of this time," Liberator does not seem to qualify as a nationally recognized contender, and he apparently thus will have to follow the petition route iif he wants his name on the ballot in 1972.

Bubblegum Day Held At UCLA

Los Angeles (UPI) — It was pink happiness day at UCLA Wednesday.

A graduate student in speech, Ron Shendrov, 23, passed out 30,000 pieces of bubblegum donated free by a Philadelphia firm in the interest of "creating goodwill, happiness and sharing."

"It worked so well we are planning on doing something on a national basis," said Ron, blowing a bubble.

Southroads Bank Request Rejected

The State Banking Department Wednesday denied an application by Southroads Bank of Bellevue to conduct a banking business on the lower level of the Southroads Shopping Center.

The corporation applied for the bank charter Sept. 18, 1969, and a public hearing was held Dec. 10-11, 1969.

The order by Banking Director Edwin A. Langley said "the public necessity, convenience and advantage will not be promoted by permitting such corporation to engage in business as a bank."

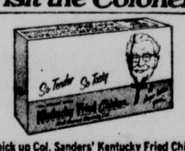

No specific details were given.

Articles of incorporation, filed April 26, 1968, with the secretary of state, set the authorized capitalization of the corporation at $200,000 and named Walter W. Clark of Omaha as incorporator and president.

L. Schmitt Joins Dept. Of Revenue

Lloyd T. Schmitt of Lincoln has joined the Department of Revenue as revenue officer in the legal division, State Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil reported Wednesday.

Schmitt replaces Kenneth W. Nelson, who held the position for three years and has resigned to run for Lancaster County sheriff on the Republican ticket.

McNeil said Schmitt, 48, will take over Nelson's duties after Friday.

Schmitt, who was Lincoln officer manager of Murphy Finance Co. for 20 years, attended the University of Minnesota. He is married and has one child.

Clark Chairman Of NPIC

The Nebraska Power Industry Committee (NPIC) has reported the election of Larry Clark, manager of municipal utilities at Broken Bow, as chairman.

He succeeds Homer Loutzenheiser, assistant general manager of the Nebraska Public Power District.

Charles Miller of the Omaha Public Power District was elected vice chairman, and Don Long of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District was renamed secretary-treasurer.

The NPIC is a voluntary organization representing all electrical utilities in Nebraska.

We purchased farm truck license plates last year and received two metal plates. Now we get one sticker and are told to remove the back plate. Is this correct? —Lawrence Kubes, Hubbel

ACTION LINE: Correct. The 1969 Legislature decided that only one plate on trucks is needed starting this year. That plate is to go on the front of the truck.

I saw where you got an old auto moved from SW 8th St., so now what can you do about old cars on Sheldon St.? —Homeowner, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The Lincoln Police Dept. will investigate the addresses you sent to determine if the owners are in violation of the law. If so, the property owners will be served notice they have 30 days to rid the property of the autos.

After 30 days, legal proceedings can be started to enforce the law if the autos are still there.

I thought the store at 12th and O was at one time called Gold's and then became Brandeis. But I still see reference to Gold's on shopping bags the store provides. What is this? —S.H., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Brandeis officials say the store is officially named Brandeis-Lincoln and is one of eight such department stores in Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island and Aurora.

All advertising is in the Brandeis name, explains S. J. Marchese, general manager of Brandeis-Lincoln. The shopping bags and boxes, however, that still bear the Gold name are left over from the supply on hand at the time the store changed hands six years ago.

Dr. Gilbert: Shark Both Hazard And Benefactor To Man

While Nebraskans may be far removed from dangers posed by sharks, they are benefiting from a number of significant contributions made through studies of shark species.

This was the message that Dr. Perry Gilbert, internationally-recognized marine biologist brought to Nebraska Wesleyan University during a day-long aquatic science seminar.

Dr. Gilbert, director of the Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota, Fla., said "significant contributions to an understanding of basic life processes are being made with sharks as experimental animals."

"The shark is both a hazard and a benefactor to man," Gilbert said at a public lecture Wednesday evening, "just as is the automobile and the airplane.

"By exploiting fully its useful features, and by taking adequate precaution when entering shark infested waters, there is reason to believe that in the next decade the shark will become less of a liability and more of an asset for man," he said.

"Sharks have been increasingly used as experimental animls for solving problems in human physiology, immunology and virology," Gilbert said.

He listed the spiny dogfish sharp as useful in kidney physiology. Other species are used for study of cell metabolism and cancer research by the National Institute of Health.

Sharks are important benefactors in other areas, he noted. In many parts of the world, shark meat is a delicacy and provides one per cent of the world market for fish.

Shark skin with proper treatment makes excellent quality leather, he said.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Thursday

Leo is a natural playboy. But it isn't wise to play games with him.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You may find that conservative associate is unwilling to part with cash. Find alternate methods of expanding. Recent setback will prove to be blessing in disguise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your possessions are worth more than you might imagine. Be sure to get money's worth. One who talks big could be bluffing. Call it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Guard health by avoiding extremes. There is no need to prove yourself. Those who care already know. The others are not worth the time, effort, emotional turmoil.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with romance, better relations with young persons. Utilize creative resources. You can break through red tape to progress.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You can make amends to family member. Delegate details of business matter. Strive to demonstrate that you do care what happens to dear one. Then you feel better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Avoid unnecessary journey. What you seek is close to home base. Know this and act accordingly. You could be pleasantly surprised by gift which indicates more than mild affection.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Avoid trusting others with valuable personal possessions. Key is to be realistic — and do not place temptations in front of weak individuals. Message increasingly clear by tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Mate, partner may seem depressed. You should make generous gesture. Cycle is high and you can afford to be lenient, kind. Be a gracious winner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Some work pressures are felt as deadline nears. You get most from day by stating views in forthright manner. One who asks for advice may not really need it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You gain additional knowledge which helps you attain goals. A friend may not be so dependable — but still nice to have around. You arrive at meaningful decision.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Obstacles are transformed into constructive challenges. You are put to test. But you succeed. Heed intuitive intellect. Means hunch is likely to prove valid.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Don't spread efforts. Finish in one area before exploring another. Your potential is great. But management is required. Applies to finances — and emotions.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have executive qualities. You are intense. Emotions are strong — nothing halfway. You will be assuming new responsibilities. You also will gain added recognition.

Suburbia—On The Go

It's Thursday morning already and we can't believe the week has gone so fast. Time seems to evaporate when there are a million and one things to be done, and we're approaching one of those peculiar times that happen twice a year — a seasonal change that really makes us work. (Oh, we know your house plants nearly froze in the window last night, but it's also going to be MARCH in two more days.) We always hanker to move the furniture around, get rid of those winter colors, buy some flowers — anything to hurry spring along. This is also the dangerous time of year for impulsive haircuts or becoming an overnight blonde, or redhead. maybe. Anyway, we always have twice as much to do because of the stir-crazy circles we're running in by the time March arrives.

Some Eastborough residents have a new house to go with the new season. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Moxham, and Julie, who is seven months old, are getting settled on Steinway Road, where they moved on Valentine's Day. Mr. and Mrs. Moxham enjoy bowling and cards, and he plays golf.

Young people's activities are keeping other suburban families busy these days. Bishop Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Grant and their daughters Barbara and Joanne will entertain two members of the United Synagogue Youth, coming to Lincoln this weekend for a regional conclave. Staying with the Grant family will be Miss Cindy Dubansky of Des Moines, and Miss Lori Wintroub of Omaha. Barbara and Joanne, members of the Tifereth Israel Synagogue youth group, will also be participating in the conference.

Another family sharing activities this past week were Mr. and Mrs. John Brennan of Sunnyside Acres, and their children. Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Brennan, Patricia, two years old and Rosemary, seven months, attended Pack 51's annual Blue and Gold Cub Scout banquet with 8-year-old Ronnie. Ronnie is a Bobcat in Den 6 of Pack 51.

A family birthday will highlight the week for Mr. and Mrs. James Mertlik, Lance, seven, and 4-year-old Scott. Saturday is grandmother's birthday and the Mertlik's are getting ready to help Mrs. Charles Finley celebrate.

Grandma visited another Sunnyside Acres home recently. Mrs. Jesse Kelley of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., just returned home after two weeks with three-year-old Scott, and 10-month-old Brent Lane and, of course, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Sartell of Wellington Greens had a welcome guest too, last weekend. Their son, Army Spec. 5 Peter Sartell was home on leave from St. Louis, Mo.

MISS SALLY KIMBERLIN

Town and campus will share interest in the announcement made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas Kimberlin of the engagement of their daughter, Sally Ann, to Capt. Wallace Charles Weekes, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Weekes.

Saturday, June 6, has been chosen as the date of the wedding.

Miss Kimberlin will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is majoring inn social welfare, and where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Capt. Weekes is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and now is stationed at England AFB, Alexandria, La. His fraternity is Delta Tau Delta.

TOWN TALK

Life does have its real and earnest moments, but fortunately it also has a lighter side that involves interesting guests and parties and such and things.

* * *

A guest from lovely Paris adds a bit of excitement to the news this morning. She is Madam Michilene Du Pasquier — of Paris, of course — and she is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cunningham.

Madam Du Pasquier, who leaves on Monday after a 10-day visit in Lincoln, stopped off en route to the east coast after spending some time in Mexico and San Francisco.

We hear that since her arrival she has been complimented with informal courtesies.

* * *

Now we come to Mr. and Mrs. J. William Mowbray who not only are homecomers but also are party-givers.

The cocktail party is to be between the hours of 6:30 o'clock and 8:30 o'clock on Saturday evening at the University Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Mowbray, although they took a quick trip into Mexico during their holiday, spent their time in Brownsville, Tex. and that good reasons for doing so. First, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Mowbray, Jr., reside there as does Mr. Mowbray's mother, Mrs. W. R. Mowbray. And of course Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Mowbray, formerly of Lincoln, also are residing in Brownsville.

* * *

Speaking of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Mowbray brings to mind the fact that in something like 12 or 13 weeks from now June will make its appearance — And that isn't all, long before June really arrives there will be talk of the annual Swingfest at the Lincoln Country Club.

And what do Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mowbray have to do with all that? Well, they have plans at the moment to be in Lincoln at that time.

Luncheon

The first in a series of get-togethers for the new members of the Women's Division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce will be held Saturday afternoon at the Knolls. The 12:30 o'clock luncheon is being planned by the Membership and V.I.P. Committee for the purpose of acquainting new members with the work of the organization.

MISS PHYLLIS BOMBERGER

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bomberger of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Phyllis, to Roger Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wall of Genoa.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, May 23.

Miss Bomberger is a graduate of the Lincoln School of Commerce.

Mr. Wall currently is a member of the Cheney Junior High School faculty.

Afternoon Wedding

The marriage of Miss Mary Jo Maupin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan W. Maupin, and Tru Joseph Connealy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Connealy, took place at 4 o'clock on Saturday, Feb. 21, at the First United Methodist Church in Lincoln.

The Rev. Dr. C. Ebb Munden solemnized the ceremony.

Mrs. Thomas I. Moran of Kansas City was the matron of honor, and Mrs. Larry Maupin of Grand Island was the bridesmatron. Miss Jan Turpin of Lincoln was bridesmaid. Candlelighters were Miss Mary James and Miss Joanne Caskey of Lincoln.

James Reid served as best man; and the groomsmen and ushers were Ron Biebelheimer and Mike Hile, of Lincoln, Larry Maupin of Grand Island, Kenneth Maupin of Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Marvin Edwards of Fremont.

The couple will live in Lincoln.

Meeting

The members of Nebraska Alpha Chapter of Delta Theta Chi will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. D. W. Baird, 2500 So. 74th St., No. 2 Warwick. A program entitled "Our Retarded Children," to be presented by Mrs. Marti Baird, will highlight the 8 o'clock meeting.

MISS CONSTANCE CHESSHIR

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Chesshir of the engagement of their daughter, Constance Louise, to Arthur Edward Tempel, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edward Tempel, Jr., of Monmouth Junction, N.J.

The wedding date is Saturday, June 6.

Miss Chesshir is a graduate of Briar Cliff College in Sioux City, Iowa, and now is city planner with the firm of Goodbird and O'Dea in New York City.

Mr. Tempel is a graduate of Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Colo., and of Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pa. He now is a chemical engineer with Union Carbide Co., in Clifton, N.J.

Mrs. Pompidou Greeted

In Washington, D.C., all eyes have been on Mrs. Georges Pompidou during the past few days, and this morning Helen Thomas of the United Press International, gives us a verbal picture of the First Lady of France.

Here is her story:

Washington — The First Lady of France, Claude Pompidou, gave American women an eye-opener view of the new long look in French fashions Tuesday.

"I do not look like a mannequin, but couture is everything in Paris," the wife of French President Georges Pompidou insisted at a luncheon given by Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, wife of the vice president.

As if to prove the point she brought along 22 costume changes for her eight-day tour of the United States.

The first one, displayed at the welcoming ceremony, was a gray outfit designed by Guy de Larochie.

At the luncheon the tall, blonde Mrs. Pompidou was dressed in a mauve Dior costume of a coat with matching chiffon dress of mid-calf length. With it she wore a chain belt, gold jewelry, a single huge pearl on a gold chain around the neck and a large mauve felt hat. She carried a lizard skin beige handbag.

Gilbert Paris, Madame Pompidou's male press secretary with all her wardrobe notes at his fingertips, said she planned to wear a pearly silk evening gown with a green long coat by Pierre Cardin for a White House state dinner Tuesday night.

The accent with Madame Pompidou was strictly French. She wore French No. 5 perfume and brought along her own hairdresser, Norbert Orega.

Mrs. Agnew, wearing an American original designed by Norman Norell, chose lavender for her color scheme complete to table cloths and flowers at the luncheon in the Smithsonian Institution. The scheme was a perfect match for Madame Pompidou's outfit.

A tour of the First Lady's Hall in the Institution was the fare for after the luncheon. In the hall are the inaugural ball gowns of all the U.S. First Ladies, including that of Mrs. Richard Nixon.

Speaking in fairly fluent English, Madame Pompidou told reporters she had enjoyed her night at the Presidential retreat of Camp David near Thurmont, Md., because it gave her a "quiet evening" her first night in the United States. She said she also enjoyed the outdoors scenery of the moustain hideaway.

Of her coffee hour earlier Tuesday with Pat Nixon, Madame Pompidou said she found her hostess "charming" and that they had a good time talking about the new fashions.

The State Dinner Tuesday night marked the first public appearance of Tricia Nixon, 24, elder daughter of the President, since her recent bout with the measles. The White House said her escort was Howard Cox, 27, an Army bachelor stationed at Ft. Myer, Va., his rank was not known.

Cox is the brother of Edward Finch Cox, a Harvard law student and frequent escort of Tricia.

Lincoln Clubs Have Busy Schedules

The spring meeting of the Nebraska Chapter, National Society of Daughters of Founders and Patriots will take place on Sunday, March 8, at the Fontenelle Hotel in Omaha. Guests are welcome to attend the event which will begin with a coffee hour at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. B. C. McLean, president, will conduct the 4 o'clock business meeting; and Mrs. James C. Suttie, chairman of the nominating committee, will preside over the election of new officers. Reports from all committees will also be presented.

The February meeting of the Odds and Ends Extension Club was held at the home of Mrs. R. M. Sandstedt, with Mrs. Carl Hartman serving as assistant hostess. The lesson on "Wood Furniture" was presented by Mrs. Val Kuska and Mrs. Phillip Henderson.

Also included on the meeting agenda was a health report, and a discussion of the organization's project, "Eyes For The Needy," Mrs. Sandstedt gave a talk on the Lincoln City Library's new program of "Shut-In Mail Service."

The club's next meeting will take place on Friday, March 20 at the home of Mrs. L. V. Skidmore.

Mrs. Bob Miller was selected to reign as Queen at the annual Sweetheart Banquet of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International Sorority which took place Saturday evening, Feb. 21, at the Elks' Club. Mrs. Charles Padgett was chosen as the Queen's attendant; and the chapter sweethearts were Miss Edna Jacob of Alpha Beta Chapter; Mrs. Richard Geier of Gamma Delta Chapter, and Miss Susan Woodrum of Zeta Alpha Chapter.

The women were chosen for their work in ESA in the areas of education, philanthrophy, service and association. Mrs. Kenneth Dill, the 1969 Queen, presided at the coronation.

A Courageous Mrs. Hauser

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—When Rita Hauser appeared at the United Nations a year ago, a colleague remarked that she was "too young, too attractive and too little" to handle the tough diplomatic confrontations ahead of her.

But those who have tangled in debate with the 94-pound lawyer-diplomat since then agree that she's a lot tougher than she looks.

Although U.N. visitors sometimes refer to her as "that young girl," she has won a reputation as a hard-hitting speaker who refuses to back away from a fight.

Mrs. Hauser, a youthful-looking 35, is U.S. representative on the U.N. Commission on Human Rights, a post held for many years by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

She also served last fall as a member of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. General Assembly, where she sat with Shirley Temple Black in the Humanitarian Committee.

In addition, Mrs. Hauser has been active outside the United Nations on human rights questions. One of her goals at the moment is winning U.S. ratification of the 22-year-old international treaty outlawing genocide, the mass killing of racial or ethnic groups.

She believes ratification of this and other U.N. rights covenants finally may be near. President Nixon has asked the Senate to ratify the genocide treaty.

Sitting at her desk at the U.S. Mission, the petite brunette said frankly that she expected to clash with the Russians during the five-week session, of the 32-nation Human Rights Commission opening Tuesday.

She recalled her experiences in the Assembly's Humanitarian Committee, where she incurred the ire of the Soviet representative on several occasions. Soviet bloc delegates tried unsuccessfully to choke off her efforts to deal with the treatment of U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam, the treatment of Jews in the Soviet Union and Moscow's refusal to permit a Soviet writer to leave the country.

Outside the meeting halls, however, she maintains cordial relations with Soviet representatives. Soviet Delegate Nikolai Tarassov addresses her as "Rita," for example, and likes for her to call him "Nick."

Mrs. Hauser describes herself as a feminist, although not a militant who marches on picket lines.

She once demanded admission to New York's Council on Foreign Relations, a privilege accorded only to men. A short time later the policy was changed to admit women. She also has been pressing Speaker John McCormack to end the practice of having separate galleries in the U.S. House of Representatives for men and women.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. as Rita Eleanore Abrams on July 19, 1934, she was a brilliant student. She studied at the University of Paris and later at Harvard Law School, where she married one of her professors.

Her husband is now vice president of General Telephone and Electronics International. She became a foundling partner of a New York law firm — Moldover, Hauser, and Strauss — which specializes in French and Belgian law.

She has taken an active role in Republican politics and was one of the early appointees of President Nixon. Her father was a Republican county committeeman, first in Brooklyn and later in Manhattan. She acknowledges that she hopes one day to run for elective office, perhaps for Congress in Manhattan's 17th district, formerly represented by Mayor John V. Lindsay. She now lives in an 8-room apartment in this district with her husband and her two children: Glen, 7, and Patricia, 6.

Round Tummies Need Exercise

A special motion for flattening the abdomen! Lie on your back with your legs stiff, arms resting on the floor extending out from your shoulders. Raise your left leg HIGH with a stiff knee. As your left leg moves down, raise your right leg. One moves up as the other moves down. After ten times, make the up and down swings very short, keeping the feet CLOSE to the floor for another ten counts.

Today I want to talk about makeup. It can make you or break you! Not really, but the right kind, skillfully applied, will unveil beauty you do not know you have.

The eyes and the mouth are the two most expressive features of the face. Therefore let us concentrate on one of them today.

Eye cosmetics can make ordinary eyes look pretty and beautiful eyes dramatic in appeal. Available aids are eye liner, mascara, eyebrow pencil or brush-on brow makeup, eye shadow and false eyelashes. Any one of these will help with the possible exception of eye shadow.

Eye liner, with even a light coat of mascara, will emphasize the eyes. When applying mascara be sure to begin at the base of the lashes, not just at the tips. The roll-on kind is probably the easiest. If you use a brush be sure that it is not too wet but just damp. Otherwise you will create a beaded appearance.

Black eye liner, mascara and false lashes, look best on most women. However the true blonde should choose a lighter shade.

I think that many women do not recognize the importance of the brows. These are actually the frames for your eyes and can have as much influence on your appearance as eye makeup, if not more. The thin, highly arched brow is a thing of the past. Today brows should look more natural and should follow the bony structure of the eye socket, with only a slight assist to nature. Your brows may require a little more arch than they have naturally.

Tweeze only stray hairs which are outside of the brow. Arch your brows by tweezing the hairs from the lower browline. You can use either an eyebrow pencil or brush-on color. I think the latter appears more natural. However, if you use a pencil do so with light feathery strokes and then blend with a bit of cotton.

Eye Shadow

It is my belief that eye shadow must be used with care by the older woman or it will be aging. The pastel shades are best. The powder shadow rather than the cream seems indicated. It does not settle so easily in lines and creases on the lid.

Everyone who reads this column knows what I think about false lashes. They do wonderful things for any woman. Today you can choose from a great variety. Some are designed for daytime wear and look as if they are truly yours. Others are heavier and more dramatic.

Give your eyes a chance! Dress them up!

Chapters To Meet

The members of Chapter DX, PEO, will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. C. Ross Smith, 5000 Cresthaven. Highlighting the 7:30 o'clock meeting will be the program, "Window of the World," to be presented by Mrs. Lloyd Marti.

Also meeting Thursday evening will be the members of Chapter DK, PEO, who will gather at the home of Mrs. Robert E. Campbell, 3085 Stratford, for an 8 o'clock meeting. Mrs. C. D. Kimball will present the program, "It's Your Thing."

It's Lawn Time—Almost

Ask most lawn experts and they'll tell you the period from mid-April to Memorial Day is the time of crisis . . . the days when what you do for your lawn determines what it'll look like for the rest of the summer.

And, of all the things you can do, nothing is more important than seeding. If you haven't already seeded, get to it as soon as you can. And don't stint. The best seed is the best bargain since you'll get as many as 50% more seeds in the better mixtures and you'll get attractive, permanent grasses rather than coarse, temporary varieties.

When you seed, try to use a spreader. Hand broadcasting is almost never even, resulting in wasted seed, clumped grass and an open invitation to birds to come for dinner.

Seed needs contact with the soil to germinate so be sure to scratch seed into bare spots to insure contact. Don't worry about areas already supporting some grass since rain and dew will wash the seed into the soil.

One sure way to provide for germination of new seed, and give existing grass a boost at the same time is to water newly seeded area with one of the new liquid fertilizer concentrates that are easily applied through your hose-end sprayer. They are available in 15-15-15 and 10-10-10 formulations.

Once fertilized, seed should be watered daily for at least two weeks. A fine spray will do since seed should just be kept damp, not wet. An easy way to do it is to arrange two or three sprinklers so they cover the seeded area completely. Turn them on before breakfast and turn them off just before you leave for work.

Another good turn you can do your lawn is to get rid of the grubs hiding in it right now. A garden company has made that job easy by bringing out a 72% liquid Chlordane product that kills off the beetle grubs, ticks, fleas and other insects hiding in your lawn.

So Good To The Taste

You're sure to get a favorable response from late sleepers by waking them with the aroma of this freshly-baked plum loaf. Combining the convenience of packaged roll mix and the luscious flavor of canned purple plums, this delightful sweet bread adds a special touch to a week-end breakfast or morning coffee klatch.

About two hours before you plan to serve the bread, mix the dough and let it rise. During this time, pit the plums and prepare the spiced sugar.

When the yeast dough has doubled, roll it out and spread it with the butter and sugar mixture. Cut the dough into squares and wrap each plum in a square of dough. Layer them in a loaf pan and allow to rise. While the loaf bakes, prepare the rest of the menu or put on a pot of coffee.

After glazing the golden loaf with plum syrup, it is ready to be sliced and spread with butter.

For a different twist, dip each plum-filled piece of dough in melted butter before placing them in the loaf pan. Then let guests pull apart the "plum bubbles."

With a can or jar of purple plums and a package of roll mix stored in your kitchen, you can whip up a Plum Bubble Loaf at a moment's notice.

PLUM BUBBLE LOAF

- 1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can or jar of purple plums
- 1 (13¾ oz.) package hot roll mix
- ¾ cup water
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg

Plum Glaze

Drain plums and remove pits. Save plum syrup for glaze. Prepare roll mix with water and egg according to package directions. Let rise until doubled, about 30 minutes. Roll out on floured board to a 12x15-inch rectangle. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with mixture of sugar and spices. Cut dough into 3-inch squares. Fold each square over a plum and seal edges. Layer in a greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Let rise ½ hour. Bake at 350 degrees 30 to 35 minutes. Brush with Plum Glaze. Serve warm, cut into slices. Makes 1 loaf.

Plum Glaze: Combine ⅓ cup reserved plum syrup with 2 tablespoons sugar. Boil 5 minutes. Allow to cool slightly.

Note: To make a pull-apart loaf, dip each plum-filled piece of dough in melted butter before placing in loaf pan.

Hamburgers or pizza? If it's a tossup in your family as to which is the favorite, please everyone with Pizzaburger Muffins.

PIZZABURGER MUFFINS

- 6 English muffins
- Butter or margarine
- 1½ pounds ground beef
- ⅓ cup canned tomato sauce
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt

Gently pull apart English muffins with fingers or fork. Toast lightly; butter. Combine remaining ingredients. Spread mixture on muffin halves being sure to spread to edge of muffins. Broil to degree of rareness desired. Makes 6 servings.

Mandarin Toasties, Applause Winners

In addition to its being a family meal, the brunch can take on company airs. When a bunch comes for brunch or if you are only out to please your family on weekend mornings, try your hand at making Japanese Mandarin Orange Toasties, a delicious French-toasty kind of recipe that goes Oriental with a few new ingredients. By spreading bread with a tasty mixture of sour cream, chopped dates or raisins and half a cup of drained Japanese Mandarin Oranges, covering with another slice and then browning both sides in hot fat, the result will be especially appetizing. And a topping made from butter, honey, nutmeg and the remaining little sections of the Mandarin oranges, with ½ cup of their juice, will give the Toasties the final fillip of flavor.

What gives this "bruncheon" dish its particular pizzazz are the tangy, sweet little segments of the Japanese Mandarin Oranges. They not only add a new taste dimension, but these seedless, rindless and uniform-in-size little delicacies are visually appealing as well. For your next brunch, surprise everyone—and yourself—with this easy-to-make, easier-to-eat recipe. It's original and oranginal!

JAPANESE MANDARIN ORANGE TOASTIES

- 1 can (11-oz.) Mandarin oranges, well drained
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- ½ cup chopped dates or raisins
- 12 slices white bread
- 2 eggs
- ¾ cup milk
- Dash salt
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- Butter or margarine

Mix sour cream, ½ cup drained Mandarin oranges and chopped dates. Spread mixture on 6 slices of bread and cover with remaining slices. Beat eggs, milk, salt and nutmeg. Dip bread in mixture, then brown on both sides in hot fat. Add a spoonful of topping and serve hot with bacon, little sausages or frizzled ham. Makes 6 servings.

TOPPING: Combine and heat remaining Mandarin oranges, ½ cup juice from can, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup honey and dash nutmeg. Simmer until slightly thickened. Use as syrup, or fold into 1 cup dairy sour cream and use as topping.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE COOKIES

- 1¾ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 1 cup light brown sugar
- ½ cup salad oil
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1½ cup milk
- ½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts
- Chocolate Cookie Frosting

Combine flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat egg until thick and light in color. Gradually add sugar, beating well after each addition. Combine oil, chocolate, and vanilla; stir into egg mixture. Add flour mixture and milk, blending well. Fold in chopped nuts. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased baking sheets 2 inches apart. Bake at 350° about 10 minutes. Remove from baking sheets. Cool slightly on racks. Frost with Chocolate Cookie Frosting Makes 4 dozen cookies.

Today is Free Pearson's Candy Day!

The Seven Up Bar. Seven small candy bars stuck together with either dark or light chocolate. Brazil Nuts and Caramel and Pudding and Jelly and oh my goodness me, Coconut and Maple and Cherry. A vivid, multitaste sensation.

The Salted Nut Roll. An inspired mix of peanuts, caramel and creamy center, all sprinkled with a pinch of salt.

The Nut Goodie. A sort of flying saucer of peanuts, milk chocolate and creamy filling.

Celebrate immediately.

Rip out this coupon and take it to your favorite store. Say very firmly, "Give me a Pearson's Candy Bar for free." The man will then do so. Or you might want to redeem the coupon for 10c off a Pearson's multipack. Either way, munch freely.

10¢ FREE PEARSON'S CANDY BAR 10¢

This coupon is worth a FREE PEARSON'S CANDY BAR! You can exchange it for any one of the three Pearson's Candy Bars: Nut Goodie, Salted Nut Roll, Seven Up Bar. Or you can redeem it for 10¢ off on a Pearson's Multi-Pack. Happy munching to you.

To Dealer: Pearson's Candy will redeem this coupon for 10¢ plus 3¢ handling charge provided you and your customer have complied with the terms of this offer.

Invoices showing purchase of sufficient stock to cover all coupons redeemed must be shown upon request. Coupon void if prohibited, taxed or restricted. Customer must pay any sales tax. Abby: just keep the roots covered

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a problem like mine in your column, but I hope you won't take this as a joke because this is a very serious problem to me.

I am 19, and go steady with a girl who is studying to be a beautician. She told me that I would look a lot better with my hair dyed, and she offered to do it for me, so I said, "O.K. go ahead."

Well, she did, and I must admit that I look much better this way. Naturally, it was quite noticeable, so all my friends kidded me about it. My problem is that I would like to keep my hair this color, but I don't want to be kidded. Do you think it is so bad for a guy to dye his hair if he really thinks it looks better that way?

DYED GUY

DEAR GUY: Fly under any color you wish, Buddy. Just be sure you keep the roots covered because if there's anything that looks worse than a gal who needs a dye job, it's a guy.

DEAR ABBY: My brother brought his family from California to Texas to see his wife's folks and some of his.

I usually make friends with children easily. In fact I have had strange children come right up to me and make friends with me.

Tho I tried my best, I couldn't seem to make friends with my little 6-year-old niece. She wouldn't even let me touch her hand to say good-bye to her. She just frowned when I went near her. I once heard a preacher say that he could tell what a family thought of him by the way the children acted toward him. Would I go wrong to apply the preacher's rule to my brother's case?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Yes. Preachers can be wrong occasionally, too.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South

Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead — four of diamonds.

Let's say you have the West hand and lead your singleton diamond against four spades. Partner wins with the jack and continues with the A-K, on which you play the 6-3 of hearts as declarer follows suit.

East obediently returns a low heart, but declarer goes up with the ace, cashes the A-K of clubs, enters dummy with a trump, ruffs a club, plays another trump to dummy, ruffs another club, then leads a third trump to dummy, and now discards his seven of hearts on the jack of clubs to bring home the contract.

Perhaps you would go on to the next hand without giving the matter any further thought, but actually you could have stopped the contract by adopting a different method of defense.

Instead of discarding a heart on the third round of diamonds, you should have ruffed partner's ace and returned a trump!

Had you elected to do this, South would have been unable to make the contract. Your trump return would have killed one of dummy's vital entries before declarer had a chance to cash his A-K of clubs, and South would eventually have lost a heart trick to go down one.

Of course, trumping partner's ace may appear to be a drastic move, but the play makes a lot of sense if you consider it fully.

To begin with, the play cannot cost a thing, since the trump you are wasting is of no use at all to you.

But more important than that is the absolute certainty that if South has either a losing heart or a losing club in his hand, he will find it utterly impossible to make the contract if you ruff partner's ace and return a trump. It is just as simple as that!

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Hunting Looks Good?

Got an itchy trigger finger? Looking forward to smelling the odors of the outdoors — the pine, spruce and enjoying the paintings of fall? Cheer up. It's not too long before hunting season will come around the corner and you'll be smack dab in the middle of it all again.

But if you want to enjoy the pleasures of hunting in future years, better start looking with interest at several conservation programs because the game is slowly diminishing.

This year, the projected forecast remains the same as last year with a good pheasant crop predicted and quail holding their own. As a matter-of-fact, with the reasonably light winter we've had so far in Nebraska, it may be a shade better than last year.

Waterfowl will continue to fluctuate, but harvestable surpluses of ducks and geese will be around for many years to come.

Thanks, Ducks Unlimited

A lot of credit for the current supply of ducks belongs to Ducks Unlimited for their efforts along conservation lines in giving the birds places to rest, eat and nest.

In 1966, the organization collected over one million dollars, but three years later, in 1969, the group doubled that amount and collected over two million dollars for wetlands management in Canada.

Contrary to belief, Ducks Unlimited is not a group of conservationists but conservation-minded hunters who have become concerned about the rapidly decreasing duck supply and instead of sitting on their thumbs, are doing something about it.

In Nebraska, Ducks Unlimited has started setting aside certain areas that are closed for hunting to give tthe quarry time to catch its breath from dodging pellets all day.

How About Pheasants

Concern about ducks is fine, now how about the pheasant.

True, the population hasn't had a sharp decline, but that doesn't mean that a sudden drop in pheasant population won't occur.

Near Hickman, Neb., a farmer recently felled several trees and burned off over twenty acres of land to give himself more cropland. He forgot about our winged friends.

The pheasant has lost one more place of refuge. Where will he go now. That farmer should have remembered that the pheasant needs a home and the additional twenty acres he craved isn't really that much for him. But a pheasant doesn't need much. That twenty acres could have supported a lot of birds for a lot of years.

More attention should be paid to 'Acres for Wildlife' and not to raising a surplus of corn.

More conservation of our upland game and waterfowl is needed and it won't be done by the farmer. It'll have to be done by the sportsman and hunter.

Stream Pollution

Birds aren't the only ones in danger. Think about the fish.

Several garbage-strewn streams have lost their fish population and more will be certain to be depleted before the year is out.

Once again the answwer is in the fisherman. Only he can preserve and protect these animals since he is the only one that cares enough.

More Timber Lines

That No-Name lure I was given a few days ago by one of the Star's employees has sure proven its worth.

I fished that lure out and caught enough bass to keep me happy and occupied all day long. Thanks, Gene.

A curious reader wrote in and asked how long it would take to learn the techniques of fly-casting and then queried how long did it take me to learn. The answer is three broken rods, uncountable lost flies, a large new vocabulary and I'm still not very good at it.

A hint to fishermen: Pawnee Lake seems to be the hot spot so far this year as several anglers have called me and excitedly told about their catches and, most important, the one that got away. Guess that white whale is still lurking in the depths of that lake.

The most interesting sidebar to conversation among sportsmen is the one that got away. I had one old-timer tell me one year about a trout weighing all of five pounds who had snapped his line then swirled in the depths and disappeared.

A year after hearing that tale, I encountered the gent again and heard once again about that same trout only this time he had grown to outlandish proportions. Guess anything can happen in a year.

Husband trying to teach wife how to fish: No, No, No! First you tie the lure on the line then you throw it in the water.

—ON PRO-AM FIGHT CARD—

Dino Phillips Debuts As Pro In Omaha

Omaha — Dino Phillips of Lincoln, a former national Golden Gloves runner-up, will make his professional boxing debut here Monday night, facing Omaha's Tony Novak on the pro-am fight card at the Civic Auditorium.

Phillips finished second in the National Golden Gloves Tournament two years ago, but dropped a split decision to Rick Bailey of South Sioux City in Norfolk District action earlier this month in a bid to earn a repeat trip to the national tourney.

Novak, also making his pro debut, is a former Midwest Golden Gloves champion.

Jack Fickler, Midwest Golden Gloves director, also announced a number of amateur pairings for the Monday night card.

In a rematch of this year's Midwest Golden Gloves action, Dan Island of South Dakota will take on Mike Reed of Omaha at 165 pounds and in a special exhibition, 132-pound Midwest champion Dale Hernandez will meet 139-pound king Clem Tucker.

In other amateur bouts already announced heavyweight king Morrie Jackson of Omaha will meet Gene Trouba of Fairbury, 112-pound champion Bob McBride of Omaha will take on Sid Fentress of Fairbury, John Hirning of South Dakota, two-time Midwest champion, will take on current 147-pound title holder Dick Pelster of Omaha and 156-pound champion Doug Barber of South Dakota will meet Omahan Tony Bazis.

In addition to the four-round preliminary bout between Phillips and Novak, the pro portion of the program features two six-round heavyweight bouts, pitting Lou Bailey of Omaha against Joe Byrd of Flint, Mich., and unbeaten Ron Stander of Council Bluffs against former Texas Golden Gloves champion Lee Powell of Houston.

Selections Led By Allen

Petersburg's Bob Allen led the voting for the Sandhills Gateway conference high school all-star basketball team this winter.

Allen was joined by Marlin Loseke of Humphrey, Ewing's Pat Regan and Ed Durre of Chambers, plus Petersburg's Rapheal Starman and Larry Bleach of Loup County who tied for the fifth spot on the mythical starting team.

Big Record Book Revision Seen In Big 8 Track

. . . LEAGUE MARKS ALREADY BETTERED IN SEVEN OF 14 EVENTS

Kansas City, Mo. — An explosive start which has seen Big Eight track and field performers crack all-time conference indoor bests in seven of the 14 championships events could create a record record-book revision at this weekend's 42nd annual indoor meet in Municipal Auditorium.

Exceptional team depth will probably allow Kansas to defend its championship—points for third, fourth, and fifth places count up fast—but the liberal sprinkling of the league's leaders throughout the conference will create some interesting and hotly contested races, indeed.

Six of last year's winners in the indoor return, including Kansas' king of collegiate shot putters, Karl Salb, who has flipped the 16-pound ball 67-5½ this year, a Big Eight best. Also back is Nebraska's Garth Case, who won the 600 run last year as a freshman.

The other four defending titlists are from Kansas State—the incomparable Ken Swenson in the 880, Dave Peterson in the 1,000, Jerome Howe in the mile, and Ray McGill, who shares the all-time Big Eight indoor high of seven feet in the high jump. However, Howe, who has been injured, might not compete in this year's meet. He just began training again a week ago.

In addition to Salb and McGill attaining the top of Big Eight indoor lists, the feat has also been achieved by Oklahoma State's Earl Harris, Iowa State's Fran Long, Colorado's Mike Wedman and Marcus Walker, and Oklahoma's mile relay foursome of Joe Wylie, Cline Johnson, DennisCotner, and Travis Newsome).

Harris now ranks as one of the eight who have logged a world-record :05.9 for the 60-yard dash. Long, a junior leader of Iowa State's forces forging a comeback, owns the two fastest indoor quartermiles ever by a Big Eighter, a :47.3 and a :47.5. Wedman has scaled 17-0 in the pole vault and Walker dipped to :07.0 in the 60 high hurdles, while the Sooner baton crew logged a 3:09.5.

A closer look at the events on the Big Eight card provides the in-depth look at the balance that reigns throughout the conference as far as individual talent is concerned. While there is this even spread, the depth of Kansas and Nebraska, the team figured to give the Jayhawks their main competition for the title, shows through.

60-Yard Dash: Harris, with his world-record equalling sprint, still leads the pack. however, this year the Big Eight has a bumper crop of fleetsters. Seven others, including Missouri's Mel Gray, who is the outdoor 100 and 220 king, Nebraska's Don Quarrie, a freshman who logged a :09.3 for the 100 last summer, and three from Kansas, have run :06.1 or better. Even with the league's record is Oklahoma's Everett Marshall, who has a .06.0 to his credit.

60-Yard High and Low Hurdles: Walker, a transfer to Colorado, heads both events—the highs with his fine :07.0 and the lows with a :06.7. In the highs, both Luci Williams of Kansas State and Mike Bates of Kansas, also a transfer, have equalled the existing record with :07.1s. Back of Walker in the lows are Williams and a pair from Nebraska, Galen Hurst and Randy Butts.

440 and 600: These two events go together. Coaches will split their sprint talent to cover both events—a competitor in the 440, by rule, cannot come back in the 600 and vice versa. Long leads the quarter-milers, though hotly pursued by Newsome, a freshman, who is the second to dip under :48 indoors. Kansas' Julio Meade and Oklahoma's Dennis Cotner and Joe Wylie rank close behind.

One who could run right with the best if he is in the race is Kansas State's Dale Alexander, who is within a second of beating the all-time league best for the 600. In this event, Case is the defending champion. Kansas' Randy Julian was the one Case barely nipped last year.

880 and 1000: Like the 440 and 600, juggling for points by coaches clouds the entry list. Swenson is the defending king in the 880. His main push could come from a Kansas newcomer, Brian McElroy, and Nebraska's Dan Morran, the winner of the event two years ago.

Peterson returns to defend in the 1000. Swenson, who can run in only one of the events, has dipped to within four-tenths of the American record. Capable of running down there, too, are Oklahoma State's Peter Kaal and Missouri's Mark Wilson.

Mile: Kaal is the leader now that Howe is apparently out of the race because of an injury. The Cowboy junior, who has been beset by aggravating minor ailments the past two seasons, is healthy now and capable of running at his pre-college level of 4:01.1. Missouri's Mike Kelly is a newcomer to the league and a strong contender. Nebraska has a strong bidder, too, in Greg Carlberg.

Two-Mile: A record could be forthcoming in this event, with Kansas' Jay Mason well under the current standard of 8:51.0. He has an 8:44.5. Iowa State's Dennis McGuire has gone 8:56.9. Last year's runnerup, Kerry Hogan of Missouri (9:03.5), also returns. Not to be overlooked are Kansas' Doug Smith and Missouri's Don Hoelting.

High Jump: McGill is the defending champion and the third in league annals to go seven feet. Closest to him are George Holland of Oklahoma State (6-8¼) and Dan Brooks of Nebraska (6-8).

Pole Vault: Wedman, a giant among pole vaulters at 6-5 and 195, has done 17 indoors this year. If he had not hit that mark, the all-time indoor best would belong to Kansas' Jan Johnson, who has a 16-6 to his credit. The Big Eight's outdoor champion, Dave Bussabarger of Colorado, is tied with Kansas' Bill Hatcher at 15-6. The 16-3 record could go.

Shot Put: Only teammate Steve Wilhelm ranks close to Salb in the shot. Salb, the 275-pound junior who won the NCAA's indoor and outdoor championships, is the Big Eight's ultimate in the event with his 67-5½. Wilhelm has a 65-3 on the list. Third could well go to another Kansan, Doug Knop, who is right at 60 feet, too.

Long Jump: This could be the least predictable of all. Kansas' Phil Reaves is the leader going in. T. J. Hicks of Colorado is a potential 25-footer. Over that level last year outdoors was Oklahoma State's Hal Oswalt, who later broke his leg and is just now rounding into shape. Missouri's Gray could be a major competitor.

NIT LANDS PISTOL PETE

BLUES' SHOT BLOCKED

New York Rangers' goalie Ed Giacomin, 1, blocks a shot by St. Louis Blues' Phil Goyette, while Rangers' Rod Seiling watches. New York edged the Blues, 2-1, in their NHL game Wednesday night.

LSU Selected For Tourney

. . . THREE OTHERS TABBED

New York (AP) — The National Invitation Tournament assured itself its most colorful attraction ever Wednesday when it selected Pete Maravich - led Louisiana State as one of its first four picks for the 16-team tourney.

Chosen along with the Tigers were independents Georgia Tech, St. John's of New York, and eighth-ranked Marquette, which rejected a bid by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Other teams are expected to be named this week, although the field will not be completed until the runners-up in several conferences are determined. The tournament begins March 13 and runs through March 21, with the Saturday afternoon final nationally televised.

LSU was the big catch. The NIT has been waiting for three years to get Maravich, major college basketball's top all-time scorer, into Madison Square Garden. Poor records, despite Maravich's scoring and passing wizardry, thwarted LSU visits to the tournament the past two seasons.

With top-ranked Kentucky clinching the Southwestern conference title and the automatic NCAA tournament berth — the LSU became available.

Scoring 47.7 points per contest, he led LSU to a current 17-8 record under coach Press Maravich, Pete's father.

The NIT got an unexpected lift when Marquette, under New Yorker Al McGuire, spurned the NCAA invitation because it was placed in the Midwest section of the draw in Texas instead of in the Mideast in Ohio.

The Warriors, 19-3, could bring the best ranking and record into the tournament under ace Dean "the Dream" Meminger. Marquette lost to Southern Illinois in the final in 1967 in its last NIT appearance.

Georgia Tech, 16-8, features 6-foot-9 Rich Yunkus, who has been averaging better than 29 points a game.

While LSU and Georgia Tech will be making their first NIT showing, St. John's will be playing in its 19th NIT, the first since 1966. The Redmen, 16-7 have won this tournament four times, more than any other team and will be trying to dedicate No. 5 to parting coach Lou Carnesecca, who is leaving after this season to over the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

Other independents likely to join the field are Army, Holy Cross, Duquesne, Georgetown, D.C., and Manhattan. The rest of the teams — are expected to come from conference runners-up with the league winners obligated to accept an NCAA invitation.

Dizzy Dean Claims Wagers Were Placed For Friend

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP) — Former pitching great Jerome "Dizzy" Dean told "a little boy named David" and everyone else Wednesday that he had "done a few foolish things" in his life, but had never been involved in big-time gambling.

In a brief news conference at a hotel suite, Dean acknowledged that he had placed bets for a friend. He said he at first did not realize he was doing anything wrong, and "never received one dime for it, not one penny."

Dean began by shaking hands with all of the reporters jammed into the room. Ten minutes later he made an abrupt and tearful departure, avoiding questions.

Dean, former 30-game winner with the St. Louis Cardinals, was one of six men named as co-conspirators, but not indicted, by a federal grand jury in Detroit. Ten others were indicted for alleged violation of federal gambling laws.

Dean, speaking without notes, told of receiving a letter from a boy named David whose father was his fan. He said the boy wrote that "he hoped I wasn't involved too much in this gambling."

"And, David, I'm going to say to you, son, I've done a few foolish things in my life and I hope that you never do. But I'll assure you of one thing: I have nothing to do with big-time gambling — never did, and never will."

Dean said he became involved in the gambling investigation "through a friend who asked me to make wagers for him." Dean said he placed the bets because "I was told there was no harm in it."

"Later on I was told it was the wrong thing to do," Dean said, "And I stopped it, long before this whole thing broke . . ."

Dean was flanked by his wife and attorney Patrick Regan during his brief appearance. His sudden departure, saying, "That's all I've got to say right now," left reporters' questions unasked.

Another of the co-conspirators named was Dean's nephew, Paul Dean, Jr. Regan explained that Paul was involved because "in Diz' absence, Paul would receive telephone calls and tell Diz what the friends wanted." Regan insisted the involvement "was very, very minor."

Regan refused to identify the friend for whom Dean placed bets. He said Dean would "be a witness, if needed," at any trials.

He added that there was no connection between Dean and the recent suspension from baseball of Detroit Tigers pitcher Denny McLain.

—MEMORIES OF TITLE GAME LOSS TO MINNESOTA HURTS WORSE THAN PAIN FROM KNEE INJURY—

Brown's Finger Hurts From Absence Of Ring

Cherry Hill, N.J. (AP) — Bob Brown recently underwent a knee operation, but the pain was nothing to what the huge offensive tackle suffered when the Los Angeles Rams lost the National Football League title to the Minnesota Vikings.

"I was crushed," said Brown, the frustration of the January title game defeat reappearing in his face as he sat in the den of his home here. "Nothing in my athletic career hurt me more than that Minnesota game."

Brown relived the post game scene in icy Minnesota where the Rams blew a 17-7 halftime lead and lost 23-17.

"Guys just sat there for more than an hour," he recalled. "We couldn't believe it."

Brown looked at his hands and holding them aloft, commented, "I wanted that Super Bowl ring so bad I could taste it. Money is great but there are certain things they can't take away from you."

The Rams' lineman thumped the cast on his knee and said he had seen Herb Adderly of Green Bay recently and when he noticed the Super Bowl ring on Adderly's finger, all the pain of the Minnesota defeat returned.

"If we had beaten Minnesota we would have won the Super Bowl," said Brown. "I honestly don't think we could have been stopped. Instead we wound up in that toilet bowl (NFL runnersup game) in Miami with 22 losers running around. My wife calls it the punishment bowl."

Brown was injured during the second exhibition game and played the entire season nursing a damaged left knee. Dr. James Nixon, who operated on the knee in 1967, when Brown played for the Philadelphia Eagles, performed the surgery.

"It was a common football injury and I'm not concerned about it," said Brown. "There is no doubt in my mind I'll be ready to go when training starts." He plans to report at 300 or 305 pounds.

"This year I started at 275, which is great if you can stay there," he said. "The problem in Los Angeles is a heat factor. It's tough to maintain my weight there. I lost considerable and midway of the season I was going anywhere from 240 to 245. The weather in Southern California doesn't agree with me. I guess it's something you can get used to, but I'd rather not."

Brown feels you need the extra weight just to survive the rigors of coach George Allen's training camp.

"I've heard about Vince Lombardi's reputation for a tough camp," said Brown, "but he must have learned everything from George Allen. I thought for awhile we were working for the CIA and we were going to be dropped behind the lines in Vietnam."

Brown doesn't buy the scuttlebutt that the Rams are an old team and lost their big chance at the title rings last year. "I think there are two sides of aging," he observed. "You age a fine wine to make it better, so certainly we feel out there that age is not going to be a serious factor. I think most of the other teams are expressing more concern than we are."

This coming season Brown said he hasn't any special goals except to have his finest season. "I want to improve, get better, and I want this improvement to be seen," he said. "I want to be more awesome."

With that he waved his hand over his face, changing his expression from a smile to a scowl. He explained that the relaxed, smiling Brown was the Monday through Friday guy; the scowl was his Sunday game face.

NWU Seeking Winning Year In Home Finale Against Dana

Beechman (6-10)	C	(6-6) Bott
T. Brown (6-2)	G	(6-1) Jahnke
Boals (6-1)	G	(6-1) Glock

Tipoff: 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Ira J. Taylor Gym, 53rd and Huntington.

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Tonight is the night.

It's the night Nebraska Wesleyan's basketball team has its best opportunity to insure a winning season as the Plainsmen host Dana in their Ira J. Taylor gym finale.

An NWU victory would leave the Plainsmen a 13-10 record with only one game remaining. But a loss tonight would mean coach Irv Peterson's club must produce Saturday night at Hastings if it hopes to finish with its first season over .500 since the 1965-66 NWU team.

Dana is the most vulnerable of Wesleyan's two remaining opponents, having won only four times this season against 16 losses.

Hastings, meanwhile, is fighting for the NIAC championship and the NAIA District II playoff berth which goes with it.

The Plainsmen have split two games this year with Hastings, winning the first in overtime, but losing a heartbreaker earlier this month, 98-97, on a long range jump shot by Hastings' Mark Jensen at the buzzer.

The Plainsmen, who have been playing some strong basketball recently, but have been unable to pull out the victories, haven't faced Dana this season.

The Vikings from Blair, who started this season with five straight losses, then won a pair before skidding again with a nine-game losing streak, have won their last two starts and would like to make it three in a row to end the campaign.

Coach Jerry Rainforth, a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan, hasn't got a senior on the club and two starters are freshmen.

Terry Miner has come on strong in the last two games, scoring 42 points to lead the Vikings past Northwestern and Westmar.

The other freshman is center Gary Bott. Both are 6-6.

At the guards are Rick Janke, 6-1, and Ralph Glock, 6-1, both juniors, with 6-5 Jeff Beatty playing across from Miner at forward.

Wesleyan, as usual, is expected to get strong play from junior John Brown, the team's leading scorer.

The NWU team is unique in that all five starters are averaging in double figures. Brown is high with a 22.4 average, while guards Rick Boals and Tom Brown are sporting 15.5 and 10.9 averages.

Bob Beecham, the tallest Plainsman starter at 6-10, carries an 11.2 average into the 7:30 p.m. contest, while Ernie Strasil, the other forward, has a 10.3 mark.

Dana hasn't beaten Wesleyan since the 1965-66 season, but took a stab at it last year before falling, 81-76. The Plainsmen hold a 27-2 series edge.

Martin Overtaken By I-State's Mack

. . . FOR FG PERCENTAGE

Kansas City, Mo. — Gene Mack of Iowa State has taken over the field goal percentage lead from Nebraska's Sam Martin.

Mack has hit 31 of 53 attempts for .585 while Martin is 37 of 71 for .521.

North Platte JC Eases To Victory

North Platte (AP)—North Platte Junior College ran to an easy 106-65 basketball victory over Central Nebraska Tech of Hastings Wednesday night.

North Platte led from the outset. But with eight minutes left in the first half Central crept to a 25-24 deficit.

Central Nebraska	33	32—65
North Platte	52	65—117

Central — Johnson 20, Buschow 15, Obermeier 9, Anderson 8, Consbruck 5, Hunt 4, Taylor 4.

North Platte — White 23, Pokorny 21, McGinnis 20, Schwartz 15, Don Johnson 10, Greer 6, Dave Johnson 4, Poll 4, Hadley 4, Ridenour 3, Royal 3, Kealy 2, McLaughlin 2.

Kidd Wins First Race As Professional Skier

Verbier, Switzerland (AP) — It took 13 races to do it but Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., finally won the giant slalom and the $4,000 first prize Wednesday in a pro Alpine ski meet, billed as a world championship.

He defeated Austria's Egon Zimmermann II in the drawn out final.

Formal Charges Filed In Norfolk Against Youths

Norfolk (AP) — Thomas Love, 17, of Norfolk was charged with assault Wednesday in Madison County Juvenile Court in connection with a post-basketball game altercation Friday night in which a Columbus boy was struck in the face with a charge from a tear gas device.

The fracas followed the Norfolk-Columbus basketball game here.

Police Chief James Brenneman said 15-year-old Mark Kruse of Columbus had to have the wadding from the tear gas capsule removed from his lip at a Norfolk hospital.

Love was released to the custody of his father. No date was set for his trial.

National Airlines Golf Open Clouds Florida Tour Swing

. . . DORAL OPEN STARTS TODAY

Miami (AP) — A strike and the possibility of the cancellation of one of the richest stops on the pro golf tour clouded the start of the scheduled five-stop Florida swing Wednesday.

The Florida tour opens Thursday with the first round of the $150,000 Doral Open, an event that has lured one of the strongest fields of the year.

It's supposed to close with the $200,000 National Airlines Open Invitational at the Country Club of Miami March 26-29. But the sponsoring airlines, now being struck by some 3,500 employees, is considering cancellation.

"I don't expect anything for the next day or so," an airlines spokesman said Wednesday.

"Some of our corporate officers are talking with the PGA. I'd guess that a decision will be made by the end of the week. After all, it's only three weeks away."

"It's an awkward situation."

Officials haven't said so in so many words, but it is known that both the airlines and officials of the Tournament Players Division of the PGA are concerned with the possibility of a demonstration.

The National Airlines event was marred last year when some members of the Machinists Union staged a wildcat walkout, picketed the tourney and attempted to stage a demonstration before television cameras.

The tournament also is scheduled for national television coverage this year.

Joe Dey, commissioner of the Players Division, issued a brief statement in New York saying that discussions with National Airlines were continuing.

"No decision has yet been reached," Dey said. "TPD is exploring the possibility of other sponsorships if National Airlines declines."

Oscar Fraley, tournament director for the Danny Thomas-Diplomat Open' said that event may be interested in moving into the dates if national airlines pulls out. The Danny Thomas was scheduled to be played in Miami Dec. 3-6 but has cancelled those dates.

Ron Cerrudo, who won last week's San Antonio Open, was a late withdrawal from the Doral.

But the field for the 72-hole test on the 7,028 yard, par 72 layout that has been nicknamed "The Blue Monster," still remains probably the strongest of the year.

In addition to Arnold Palmer, on hand are all four major title holders — George Archer, Orville Moody, Tony Jacklin and Ray Floyd; the 1970 tournament winners, Pete Brown, Bruce Devlin, Dale Douglass and Bert Yancey; Vardon trophy winner Dave Hill and 1969 leading money winner Frank Beard all are on hand.

Yale Gets Spanking

New York (AP) — For the second time in six weeks, prestigious Yale University was put on probation Wednesday by a group of athletic administrators for knowingly using an ineligible basketball player who participated in the unsanctioned Maccabiah Games in Israel last August.

By a secret ballot vote of 104-50 following an emotional two-hour membership meeting, the Eastern College Athletic Conference upheld a penalty handed out by its executive council placing Yale on probation until June 3, 1971.

Last month, the National Collegiate Athletic Association slapped a two-year probation on Yale for continuing to play back Langer, a 6-foot-8 reserve center from Fort Lee, N.J., who went to the Maccabiah Games with Yale's permission.

Wayne Defeats Peru By 88-68

Wayne (AP) — High-scoring Bill Goodwin tossed in a layup and put Wayne College ahead to stay midway through the first half as Wayne defeated Peru State 88-68 in college basketball here Wednesday.

The layup made the score 16-15 with 9:20 left in the first half. Goodwin scored a total of 29 points.

The win gave Wayne a 21-5 record, and made them a top contender for the NAIA district playoffs. Peru finished its season with an 11-10 record.

Scantlebury Making Solid All-Big 8 Bid

. . . GUARD TOPS HUSKER SCORERS WITH 14-POINT AVERAGE

Nebraska's Tom Scantlebury appears to have found his scoring range as the Cornhuskers head into the Big Eight home stretch with an eye on a possible NIT berth.

Scantlebury is making a solid bid for all-Big Eight honors as the top scoring guard in the conference, and few Husker fans will dispute the fact he's the most sensational guard in the league.

Against Oklahoma Scantlebury took charge in the second half and whistled in 22 points for a 28-point spree, his top scoring effort in three years of Husker stardom. His previous high was 24 points.

"Scants," as he's called by teammates and coaches, is averaging 14 points per game for the season. But he's come for a 19.2 average during his past four games with Missouri, Kansas, Kansas State and Oklahoma, all four top teams in the thick of the race for first-division honors.

"Tom has been improving and he shot well against Oklahoma," says coach Joe Cipriano. "He is something when he gets zeroed in and when he starts hitting 10 out of 18 we want him to keep firing."

Cipriano doesn't bat an eye when asked to name the top guard in the Big Eight.

"Scantlebury is a fine basketball player and a colorful player — he's certainly the top guard in the conference," Joe said.

Currently boasting a 15-8 overall record for the season and a 5-6 mark in Big Eight play, the Cornhuskers head for Missouri this weekend.

They'll tackle the tough Tigers at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night in their last road game of the campaign.

"We've got a great chance to end strong if we can play well at Missouri," Cipriano said. "We can finish at home against Oklahoma State and Iowa State — tough games, but easier at home."

Cipriano indicated he'd start Chuck Jura and Bob Gratopp at forwards, Leroy Chalk at center and Sam Martin in the backcourt with Scantlebury.

Bill Brundige Inks Redskin Contract

Washington (AP) — Bill Brundige, second team all-american defensive end from Colorado, signed Wednesday with the Washington Redskins.

Redskins' coach Vince Lombardi praised the 6-foot-4 and one half, 270-pounder from Haxtun, Colo., who was the team's top draft choice.

"We consider ourselves very fortunate to get this good looking fellow," Lombardi said.

"He's got good speed, good agility and a natural move getting to the passer."

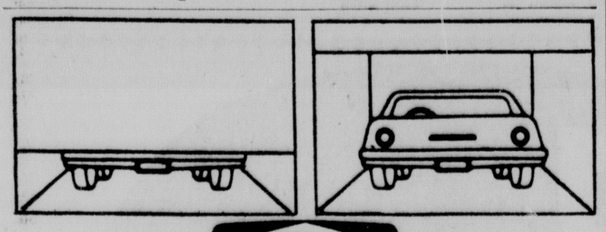

Details of the contract were not disclosed.

Kyroscope To Expedite Weekend's State Swim Meet

High school swimmers won't be arguing about their times this weekend—unless they can talk to a machine.

For the first time in Nebraska an electronic device, called a kyroscope, will record the order of finish of each race and also the tanker's time to the nearest one-thousandth of a second at the state swim meet Friday and Saturday at the Lincoln East High pool.

"This should simplify the running of the meet since it will give results instantly," says Dennis Vokolek, East swim coach, "It is also battery operated so there is no possibility of electric shocks.

Phil Sprague, meet director said nine stop watches—one on each lane and three on the first place finisher will back up the kyroscope.

He adds that letters have been sent to the 24 coaches entering men at the two-day affair advising them to instruct their swimmers to hit the touch plate in the water rather than the gutter.

Six operators will trigger the touch plate so it times each swimmer when he completes his last lap. The timers will set the device as each swimmer starts his final lap.

The $2,700 device will be wired into the starter's pistol and will record all six swimmers' times and places automatically.

Rather than the usual 48 judges, probably no more than 20 officials will referee at the Spartan pool — six kyroscope operators, nine stop watch men and several additional judges.

"The only trouble we foresee is if a swimmer misses the touch plate on the backstroke, the machine malfunctions, or an operator pushes the button on a lap other than the last one," Sprague explains.

While other events have swimmers traveling head-first into the wall, with their hands aiming at the touch plate, backstrokers have their arms flying backward over their heads and often touch the gutter. With the touch plate in the water, there is the possibility that they would miss the touch plate as they finish their race.

Last weekend at the Iowa state swim meet in Ames both stop watches and the kyroscope were used — the official time recorded was the fastest. Sprague said the machine will be the official timer this weekend barring any unforeseen circumstances.

The Nebraska School Activities Assn. is not renting or buying the timer, he explains. Jack Diamond, a former high school and college swim coach is traveling throughout the midwest representing a St. Louis firm trying to expose the product.

"We will pay Mr. Diamond's transportation and his expenses while he is in Lincoln," the meet manager says, "but I don't know if we will buy or rent one of these for future meets."

The meet begins with preliminary diving at 9 a.m. Friday followed by swimming preliminaries at 1 p.m. and the diving semifinals at 7 p.m. Saturday's finals begin at 1:30 p.m.

Sports, Vacation, Travel Show Opens Today

If it's still too early to start thinking of camping plans for the coming season . . . if the thought of fishing gives you chilblains . . . if you shiver when picnicking is discussed . . . then the Nebraska International Sport, Vacation and Travel show opening today is your cup of tea.

All these things, and more, will be displayed for your inspection at Pershing Auditorium during the four-day show, and you can look them over in indoor comfort.

Thursday and Friday the show runs from 5-11:30 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from noon to 11:30 p.m.

Thousands of persons are expected to attend, to inspect the boating, camping and fishing displays; as well as travel booths from all over the country. And if this becomes boring, a bikini exhibit . . . live . . . will be presented each night at 9.

Feature of the show will be the Water Follies, to be presented nightly at 8:15 p.m., with two extra performances Saturday at 2 and 5 p.m. and one extra show on Sunday at 3 p.m. More than 30 swimmers will give a water ballet, as well as comedy performances.

The outdoors awaits you . . . indoors!

Adams State Invading UNO For League Title

Denver (AP) — Commissioner H. B. Doc Kniseley of the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference said Adams (Colo.) State and Nebraska-Omaha will clash Saturday night for the league basketball title at Omaha.

He said this will be the case even if Colorado State College ties for first place with Omaha by defeating Southern Colorado State College at Pueblo Thursday night.

Both teams will be recognized as co-champions of the Plains Division. But Kniseley said under a conference rule Omaha will move into the title playoff because the Nebraskans beat the Bears twice this season.

Adams State captured the title in the Mountain Division last week, succeeding Westminster of Salt Lake City. The divisional champions did not meet in a playoff last season.

Omaha moved ahead in the Plains Division by beating Fort Hays, Kan., State 84-80 Monday night and shows a 7-3 conference record. The CSC Bears raised their mark to 6-3 by beating Emporia, Kan., State 65-63 the same night for the Kansans' 10th league defeat without a victory.

Fort Hays fell back to 6-4 just ahead of Southern Colorado at 5-4. The Pueblo club won the Plains Division crown in 1969.

The CSC — Southern Colorado game is the last of the regular conference season.

Longtime Grid Coach, Stark, Dies

Fremont (AP) — Funeral services are pending in Fremont for Arthur R. Stark, 69, a familiar football coaching figure in Kansas and Nebraska from the late 1920s until the late 1940s.

Stark died Tuesday in a Fremont hospital at the age of 69.

A graduate of Kansas State University where he was a four-letter man and an all-conference halfback, Stark's college coaching career covered stints at Creighton University, Chadron State Teachers College, the University of Nebraska and Midland College.

He had also coached at the Haskell Institute in Kansas, Manhattan, Kan., High School and Fremont High School.

In 1927, Stark's Haskell Institute track team placed fourth in the national cross country competition in New York City.

He was at Chadron from 1928-1930 where his football teams won 27 and lost three.

Stark helped bring in two Missouri Valley Conference championships during his Creighton career from 1930-1933.

Following his stint at Creighton, he entered private business, but returned to coaching in 1943 when he helped Ad Lewandowski train a war-thinned squad at the University of Nebraska.

Following the war, in 1946, he was an assistant coach at Fremont High School and the same year was named an assistant in football at Midland College.

Survivors include his widow, Ella; son Arthur R. Jr. of Houston, Tex.; daughter, Mrs. John Fisher of Roto, Spain; five grandchildren and two sisters.

NU Matmen Tackle Two

Nebraska wrestlers tackle a busy slate this week, hosting Kansas State tonight and Northwest Missouri on Friday.

Starting time both days at the Coliseum will be 7:30 p.m.

"We can go .500 this week if some of that fan fever we had for the state meet carries over," coach Orval Borgialli said. "We'll have a real fight with these two fine teams and we'd like to see a lot of students and fans yelling for us."

The Huskers are 3-5-1 for the year.

Nebraska's entries:

118 — Joe Orta, 126 Rick Pinkerman, 134 Doug Erickson, 142 Tom Lotko, 150 Tom Meier, 158 Joe George, 167 Jerry Munson, 177 Jim Haug, 190 Bill Knipple, Heavyweight Keith Burchett.

There is no admission charge for Cornhusker wrestling matches.

NU Thinclads Eyeing Big 8 Indoor Title

"Sure, we're going to shoot for the Big Eight title."

That's the way coach Frank Sevigne and the Nebraska track team eye the Big Eight championships in Kansas City Friday and Saturday.

"Kansas is the defending champion and they're loaded again, and there are several other clubs like Kansas State, Missouri and the Oklahoma schools who can really score points," Sevigne said. "But we feel we've got a fine team and we think we'll be in the thick of the race."

The Husker mentor added, "Of course, we've got to have everybody well."

Sevigne was referring to the flu bug that crippled the squad last week, but didn't prevent a 108-14 win over Iowa State to cap a second straight undefeated indoor campaign for the Huskers.

Here are Nebraska's top marks going into the Big Eight meet:

60-Yard Dash:—06.1, Don Quarrier

Hunger Conference Planners To Survey State Food Needs

Planners of a March 17 statewide governor's conference on hunger will make an attempt to identify the number and location of people in Nebraska who aren't getting an adequate food supply.

That was the main point of a meeting Wednesday in Lincoln of about 40 representatives of church organizations, voluntary service and welfare agencies and organizations and directors of community action programs in the state.

"The real objective is to get down to work and do things in order to feed hungry people," said Dr. Bert Evans, an economist at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

More Support Likely

Once the number of people in need of food is determined, more support for food programs will likely be forthcoming, said Evans and Nebraska State Technical Assistance Director Sam Cornelius.

Six counties in the state presently have no food stamp programs and only 13% of the people who are eligible for food help are receiving it, Evans told the group.

According to a plan outlined by Cornelius, volunteers will be trained by community action agencies to take surveys across the state March 2-17.

Field Work

From March 8-12, the volunteers will do their field work, Cornelius said, locating people and compiling information about whether they're receiving food stamps, whether they've tried, and other information.

The information will be returned to the community action agencies from March 13-16 and presented at the conference on March 17, he said.

Mrs. Lucy Nevels of Lincoln, chairman of the meeting, said the volunteers can assure people interviewed that the information will be confidential and that numbers and general locations will be the only items used publicly.

Evans, Cornelius and Mrs. Nevels all pointed out that one reason many people don't receive adequate food is that they won't admit being poor.

308,000 In 1960

Cornelius said 308,000 persons in Nebraska were classified as poor in 1960 and that with the increase in living standards, that number is probably lower now.

"One problem is that people don't think it's legitimate to feed the hungry," Evans said.

"We need to talk more about this as people being eligible for food and nutrition, just as people are eligible to send their children to school, to drive on the highways, to go into the hospital for Medicaid or Medicare or whatever."

Won't Think About It

"If a guy has 10 children and he isn't paying a dime of taxes, no one will think anything about it when he sends the kids to school even though he isn't paying for it," Evans said.

"But when it comes to those kids being hungry, people think there's something wrong with getting help."

"If we develop our people into healthy, alert and competent people, the return will be far greater than the amount for food we spend now," he added.

STARS HOST DEMOLITION

Zsa Zsa Gabor has a bit of trouble getting her sledgehammer into position, but Sammy Davis Jr. is ready to start demolition of the famous Coconut Grove nightclub in Los Angeles. The club is being torn down to make room for a bigger, fancier one.

Opinion Sheds Light On Boundary Dispute

By the Associated Press

The U.S. Supreme Court Wednesday reaffirmed a previous stand upon which part of Nebraska's case has been built in its Missouri River boundary dispute with the State of Iowa.

"That's the law as we've always understood it," said Nebraska Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer after looking at a news report of the Supreme Court action.

Nebraska's brief in the Iowa-Nebraska case was filed within the past week with Federal District Judge Joseph P. Willson of Pittsburgh, Pa., appointed by the U.S. Supreme Court to be special master in the case.

The master takes testimony, considers the briefs and hears oral arguments before filing a report with the court that appointed him recommending a course of action.

Can File Objections

Either side to the dispute can file objections to the master's report and the objections, if any, are considered by the court, along with the recommendation, prior to the final determination, Meyer said.

"It's expected that Iowa will file its brief with the master about June 1 and that the case finally will be submitted shortly thereafter," Meyer said.

In Wednesday's high court action, an unsigned opinion accepted the recommendation of U.S. District Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye of Minnesota, special master in the case, that the boundary should be in the middle of an abandoned river channel between Arkansas and Tennessee.

The court called the case a "classic example" of a situation in an earlier ruling that a boundary may follow a gradually changing river but does not change if there is a drastic shift in the river bed.

Similar In Part

Meyer said the Nebraska case was similar in part but that other issues of fact also were involved, especially the Iowa-Nebraska boundary compact of 1943, which set the Missouri's center as the state boundary.

The river has since made numerous channel shifts, causing some Nebraska land to wind up on the Iowa side of the river.

The 1963 Nebraska Legislature instructed Meyer to bring suit against Iowa in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Violating Compact

Nebraska contends Iowa is violating a part of the 1943 compact that stipulates Iowa will honor real estate titles which were good in Nebraska before meanderings of the river caused dislocation.

Iowa contends it stands to lose state-owned lands. Previous investigation has indicated as many as 15,000 acres could be involved.

The documents filed with the master, prepared by Special Assistant Atty. Gen. Howard H. Moldenhauer of Omaha, consisted of 106 pages of argument and a resume of evidence of 533 pages, exclusive of maps.

"Insofar as claims by the State of Iowa are concerned, there should no longer be any presumption that movements by the Missouri River in the past have been slow and gradual in such manner that the boundary moved with the river," the argument concluded, in part.

Youths Start Bank On Fire In California

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP) — Young demonstrators set fire to a branch of the Bank of America and to a police sedan Wednesday night in the second night of street disturbances near the University of California Santa Barbara campus.

Sheriff James W. Webster said he would ask Gov. Ronald Reagan for 500 National Guard troops.

Webster, who massed some 80 officers at the scene, said the situation was "completely out of hand."

Reagan was reported en route by plane from Los Angeles to Sacramento late Wednesday night. It was not immediately determined whether he would be contacted prior to landing.

Quinn Is Elected Milwaukee Road Board Chairman

Chicago (AP) — Directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Co. elected William J. Quinn chairman of the board and principal officer of the company Wednesday.

The action was taken when Leo T. Crowley, chairman since 1945, announced his resignation effective in March. He will continue as a director.

Quinn, a former officer with the Milwaukee Road, left the Milwaukee in 1966 to become president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Co.

Quinn since has become a director and vice chairman of Burlington Northern Inc., a company formed through the merging of the Burlington and the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways.

The merger will become effective March 2.

Stocks Soar In Late Trade

New York (AP) — A tiny crack in the record high bank prime interest rate Wednesday ignited an explosive stock market rally in the final 30 minutes of trading.

The market was languishing in a narrow range in sluggish trading when an announcement by the small Lincoln National Bank of Philadelphia of a prime rate cut to 8% from 8½ hit Wall Street.

Investors who have been pining for lower interest rates, rushed into the market and sent prices and trading volume soaring.

But big banks in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, in initial reaction, dismissed the Lincoln National's move as insignificant and unlikely to be followed.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 1.32 at 2:30 p.m. EST vaulted to a gain of 13.86 at 768.28 at the close. The advance was the biggest of the year for this average. The Associated Press 60-stock average climbed 4.7 to 271.6, with industrials up 7.6, rails up 1.9, and utilities up 2.5.

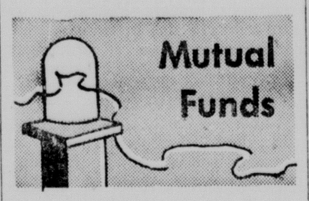

In the late surge, the margin of advances over declines ballooned to 1,005 to 346 among 1,582 issues traded on the Big Board.

Volume surged to 13.21 million shares as 4.82 million shares changed hands in the last hour.

Among the Big Board's 20 most-active issues, advances outdistanced declines 15 to 2, with 3 unchanged. Occidental Petroleum, which reproted higher earnings for 1969, led the list on 240,600 shares and closed up 5/8 to 21.

Prices among the more-active Big Board stocks included Jersey Standard, up 7/8 to 55¾; Boeing, up ¾ to 26; Burroughs, up 4⅜ to 153; City investing, up 1⅝ to 21½; Atlantic Richfield, up 2¼ to 70; and United Aircraft, up 3⅜ to 37.

American Stock Exchange prices rose briskly in late trading, with advances exceeding declines by 548 to 298 among 1,055 issues traded. The exchange index moved up .21 to 25.78. Volume swelled to 4.64 million shares from 3.46 million on Tuesday.

Gov. Maddox Target Of Negro's Ire

Washington (UPI) — A Negro congressman introduced a resolution Wednesday declaring Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox unwelcome in the House restaurant where he distributed ax handles as symbol of his resistance to desegregation.

The congressman, Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., said he also was considering filing a slander suit aagainst Maddox as a result of their shouting match in the restaurant Tuesday.

When Diggs objected to the ax and pick handles, Maddox called him an ass and a baboon. Diggs said Wednesday he particularly objected to being called a baboon because "it has a racial connotation."

'Flipped Lid, Man'

Maddox, in Atlanta, said Wednesday that Diggs "has flipped his lid, man." He said Diggs' petition was signed by "every biased, prejudiced persons in Congress."

"I have never seen that kind of expression of bitterness and hatred and contempt," Maddox said of Diggs' appearance during the incident Tuesday. "I never experienced that in a human being before."

Diggs, claiming support from the North and South, circulated a letter to House members inviting them to join him in sponsoring the resolution to declare Maddox persona non grata in the restaurant.

The resolution, cosponsored by the House's eight other Negro members, would express the "sense of the House that Gov. Maddox is not welcome as a guest in the House restaurant."

After Testifying

House rules permit governors to use the dining facilities, and Maddox brought a box of ax and pick handles with him Tuesday after he had testified before a Senate subcommittee.

Speaker John W. McCormack, who issued orders Tuesday for Maddox to get the handles out of the restaurant, said Wednesday, "It was inappropriate for him to do what he did."

The autographed hardwood handles recall Maddox' days as an Atlanta restaurant owner who resisted desegregation by barring Negroes while carrying ax and pick handles.

Embezzlement Charge Filed Against Kirby

Papillion (AP) — Complaints were on file in Sarpy County Court Wednesday charging Dale T. Kirby, an attorney for the State Railway Commission and Papillion city attorney, with embezzlement.

The action, filed by Sarpy County Atty. Dixon Adams, charges Kirby with two counts of embezzlement of money allegedly given him to pay off mortgages.

The complainant was identified as Mrs. Martha Badura of Ashton. She alleges that Kirby received two checks from her for $6,000 and $2,000 to pay off mortgages on property in Bellevue. Mrs. Badura alleges that Kirby used the money for his own purposes.

Kirby was a member of the Sarpy County attorney's staff until early 1969.

Work Is Tough But Pay's Good

Baton Rouge, La. (UPI) — A 15-year-old girl has testified she was enticed into working as a prostitute by a woman last year, and during the month that she worked she made $400 a week.

Her testimony came during the trial of the woman who allegedly lured the girl into prostitution. The girl testified the woman took 40% of her earnings.

Dispute Triggers Plans To Review Kearney Salaries

Kearney (AP) — A brief dispute between 16 Kearney garbage collectors and the city over wages has triggered plans for a complete review of salaries of city employes in Kearney.

City Manager Ray Lundy told the City Council the 16 walked off their jobs Tuesday in protest to wages, but he had met with them during the noon hour and they had agreed to return on his promise he would present their grievances to the council.

Lundy said that although he could not condone their actions he could understand their complaint against the inflationary spiral and the lack of a wage adjustment since June, 1969.

Lundy said the workers would be satisfied if the council would agree to review the salary situation. The council agreed to review the salaries of all city employes and said if the survey shows an adjustment is indicated it will be retroactive to Feb. 1.

Historic Site Bill OKd

Washington (UPI) — A bill to extend and expand a program for preserving historic sites throughout the nation was approved by the House Interior Committee.

Ex-Nebraskan Deserts Army; Joins Canadian Paper Staff

Omaha (AP) — George Kaufman, 24, a former Nebraskan, says he and his wife, Deanna, have moved to Canada because of his opposition to the Vietnam War and his feeling that his life in the Army was stifling and unconstitutional.

Kaufman, formerly of Hastings, moved last month from Sioux City, Iowa, to Peterborough, Ontario, Canada. His wife, of Grand Island, had been a reporter for the Sioux City Journal.

Both he and his wife are employed by a newspaper in Peterborough. They both graduated from the University of Nebraska last year.

Kaufman was inducted into the Army in September, classified as a non-combatant soldier. He was in training for medical service.

Psychological Warfare

He said he decided to desert while on leave during the holidays last year.

Claiming that the Army conducted psychological warfare against its own men, Kaufman said classes on communism were supposed to "make the soldier hate and despise the enemy so much that he will feel justified in killing him."

Loder's Attorneys Request Change In Trial Location

Omaha (AP) — Attorneys for a former Omaha policeman, charged with manslaughter, have moved that his trial be moved to another jurisdiction.

Attorneys for James Loder alleged press coverage has prejudiced public opinion. Loder is expected to go on trial next month in the fatal shooting of 14-year-old Vivian Strong during a police investigation. The incident touched off disorders on the city's Near North Side.

Attorneys Paul Watts and Joseph Vance asked that the trial be held in an adjoining county. None was specified and no date for a hearing on the motion has been set.

Old Poplar Tree Noted

Frankfort, Ky. (AP) — Biologists estimate that a poplar tree on the Willard Ingram farm just off U.S. 460 at Ezel in Morgan County, Ky., is more than 430 years old. At its base, the tree is approximately 25 feet around.

Stone Age Fair Set For Bayard

Bayard — The 12th annual Chimney Rock Stone Age Fair is scheduled here March 20, 21, and 22 at the American Legion Hall.

Displays of artifacts, polished rocks, and semi-precious stones will be shown at the rock show.

Budget Increase For Central Tech Okayed By Board

Hastings (UPI) — The governing board of the Central Nebraska Technical College approved a supplemental budget increase of $144,700 for the current fiscal year.

The increase in funds will come from a budget excess resulting from unanticipated state aid which was authorized in the last session of the unicameral.

The budget increase will permit all outstanding warrants to be paid off and will allow the completion of several campus maintenance projects

THE POSSIBLE DREAM

Country Club Village remembers the forgotten couple. The family in their 20's that isn't ready to pay a King's ransom to move into a home but still feels they deserve the advantage of the comfortable life. Country Club Village is devoted to this couple. With attractive one and two-bedroom garden apartments (some with two baths) that feature
Wall-to-wall carpeting and draperies. Color-coordinated General Electric appliances including a zero-degree freezer and frost-free refrigerator, deluxe range with self-timing ovens, waste disposal and dishwasher. Plenty of storage IN THE APARTMENT! Individually controlled heating and air conditioning. WE PAY YOUR HEATING BILL!! Cable TV is furnished. A clubhouse with fireplace, bar and adjacent heated swimming pool — yours to use AT NO CHARGE!
The clubhouse and model apartment were distinctively decorated and furnished by CARRIAGE HOUSE FURNITURE of Omaha.
This wonderful world of living was made possible by the wonderful world of banking at the National Bank of Commerce. Live the possible dream at

News Of Town And Country

Three — count 'em, three. Believe it or not, there are but three days left in February, even when you include today in the calculations.

That means that this weekend will usher in the third month of the year, and bring spring — not just pseudo-spring, but real, honest-to-goodness, spring — just that much closer. Anyone who does not like that development can pack his or her bags and move a few thousand miles north. We doubt, however, that very many will be leaving . . .

As for the Town and Country news this morning, there is a little bit of everything, with the improved weather conditions inspiring more people to travel than has been the case for the past few months.

Malcolm

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Arlan Boldebuck on Wednesday, Feb. 25 were members of the Malcolm Birthday Club.

A dessert luncheon was followed by an afternoon of cards.

Pleasant Dale

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Merrill on Sunday, Feb. 22 were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Oxley. They played cards during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Berg, Cynthia, Mark, Michael, and Steven had a number of guests this past Sunday, Feb. 22. The family gathering was in celebration of Michael's seventh birthday.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Berg, Mrs. Walden Brandt and Kurt, of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Wust, David, and Angela, of Milford.

Emerald

Former members of the Emerald Extension Club met for a 1 o'clock luncheon on Wednesday, Feb. 18, at the home of Mrs. Alfred Meyer.

Mrs. Meyer's guests for the afternoon were Mrs. L. J. Hohnstein, Mrs. Shirley Beckman, Mrs. Gene Kalkwarf, Mrs. Henry Berg, and Mrs. Louis Borgman.

Traveling to Tobias on Sunday, Feb. 22 were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Snyder and their granddaughter, Jeanne Kalkwarf (who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kalkwarf).

They were the guests of Mrs. Snyder's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dlouhy.

Waverly

Meeting on Friday, Feb. 20 were members of the Waverly Kitchen Rangers Extension Club, who gathered at the home of Mrs. Harlan Hoy.

The next meeting will be Friday, March 13, at the home of Mrs. Glen Houser.

Ceresco

The new home of Mrs. William Shandera in Davey was filled with members of the Happy Center Extension Club on Wednesday, Feb. 11, for the group's monthly meeting. Eleven members and two guests, Mrs. Ole Madsen and Mrs. Andrew Tejral, were present.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ray Vanicek. The lesson on wood funiture was presented by Mrs. Harold Crocker, and reporting on a council meeting was the club's new president, Mrs. George Hermone.

Bennet

Mrs. Fred Harper was a dinner guest at the home of Mrs. Mildred Maney and daughter, Marilyn, on Saturday, Feb. 21.

On Sunday, Feb. 22, Mrs. Harper and Dick Tracy traveled to Lincoln, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harper.

Motoring to Fullerton last week were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burt, who visited Mrs. Burt's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ruby.

Visiting in Bennet this weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas and sons of Kansas City, who visited with Mr. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, and with other relatives in the area.

The Bennet Community Church Circle met on Wednesday, Feb. 25. Hostesses were Mrs. Justin Hagaman, Mrs. Dorothy Ratliff, Mrs. Dale Nelson, and Mrs. Ann Mulder.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Lowell Pierson, and the missionary lesson was given by Mrs. Lee Wiles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Nisley were host and hostess for a pot-luck supper on Monday evening, Feb. 23. Their guests were members of the "Come Join Us" Sunday school class and their husbands.

A business meeting followed the supper.

Stromsburg

On Thursday, Feb. 19, Mrs. William Dake celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary.

She was the 32nd resident of Polk County to receive an honorary membership in the Polk County Historical Society, which is awarded to residents who are 90 years old or older.

Observing his 94th birthday anniversary on Tuesday, Feb. 17, was William Anderson of Stromsburg.

The youth group of the Stromsburg Baptist Church presented the play, "Stand Up and Be Counted," on Sunday evening, Feb. 22. The play evaluates the role of the church in today's society. An open ballot provided audience participation.

Several musical numbers were also given.

Miss Ann Strong, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. K. D. Strong, has been accepted as a freshman at York College for the coming year. She plans to major in pre-nursing.

Stroganoff

Today, the mere mention of a buffet brings to mind a meatball or Beef Stroganoff.

Here's a quick easy way to make Meatball Stroganoff for your family or a buffet. Heat a few cans of meatballs and gravy, mixed with sour cream, sherry wine and marjoram. Serve it over noodles accompanied by a tossed salad, or any green vegetable.

MEATBALL STROGANOFF

- 2 cans (15 oz. each) meatballs and brown gravy
- 1 cup sour cream
- ¼ cup dry sherry wine
- 1 teaspoon marjoram

Heat meatballs and gravy in saucepan. Add all other ingredients. Simmer for 10 minutes until meatballs are heated through and flavor is absorbed. Serves 4-6. (Excellent for buffet service.)

Enchiladas With A "Twist"

An enchilada might not take up much space on a dinner plate, but it packs a heap of flavor and satisfaction. Two enchildaes add up to a hearty and delicious main dish which is unusually good, inexpensive, and different. Add the fact that they can be prepared with very little fuss and muss, and you have a recipe to remember in a pinch. For enchiladas with a "twist," try making them with corned beef as the main ingredient.

If you like peppery hot foods, accompany corned beef enchiladas with canned chili peppers. Milder flavored garnish-accompaniment might be gherkins or pickled beets. Spanish rice and hot buttered green beans, plus avacado salad, go with enchiladas nicely; dessert might be broiled grapefruit halves or rhubarb sauce.

CORNED BEEF ENCHILADAS

- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 tbsp butter or margarine
- 1 12 oz. can corned beef, unchilled
- 2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
- 1 tbsp. chopped parsley
- 12 fresh, canned, or frozen tortillas
- Melted shortening or oil
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Cook celery in butter until tender. Add corned beef, flaked with a fork. Add one can of the tomato sauce and parsley. Stir well; set aside. Cook tortillas in hot fat, according to package directions, until pliable. Drain on paper toweling. Place a spoonful of the corned beef filling on tortilla. Roll up; place in shallow casserole. Repeat with remaining tortillas. Top with remaining tomato sauce and cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until heated through.

Yield: six servings.

Anniversary Dinners

Two Columbus couples who observed wedding anniversaries in February were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Podraza, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore marked their 64th wedding anniversary on Friday, Feb. 20. They celebrated with a family dinner on Sunday, Feb. 15.

A dinner and open house on Sunday, Feb. 8 honored Mr. and Mrs. Mike Podraza on their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Podraza have four sons, Mike, Jr., Henry, Tom, and Richard, and 15 grandchildren.

Saturday Wedding

Baskets of pink roses decorated the altar of the United Methodist Church at Ainsworth on Saturday, Feb. 14, for the wedding of Miss Cynthia Louise Giles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Giles of Elsmere, and Malcolm Stephenson Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith of Brady. The 2:30 o'clock service was solemnized by Rev. Robert Holbrook. Miss Jo Lynn McCoy of Rapid City, S.D., was the organist and soloist was Wayne Brown of Ainsworth.

Empire frocks of royal blue velvet were worn by Miss Alyce Ann Giles, who was her sister's maid of honor; and bridesmaids, Miss Allegra Smith, of Grady, siste of the bridegroom; Miss Karen Giles of Ainsworth; and Miss Sheila Drinkwalter of Valentine. Beneath the fitted bodices, fashioned with lace accented pouf sleeves, their A-line skirts were is the directoire silhouette, accented by a back bow and panel. The venise lace was repeated at the waistline of the frocks. The attendants carried white fur muffs with cascades of pink roses.

Harold Booth of Brady served Mr. Smith as best man. Groomsmen were Robert M. Petersen of Kearney, Clayton Anderson of Brady, and Steve O'Rourke of North Platte. Seating the guests were Gary Trego of Sutherland, Keith Keys of Elsmere, Jim Drinkwalter of Valentine, and Gene Giles of Broken Bow.

The bride's gown of white velvet was designed with an A-line skirt and demi-fitted bodice featuring a bateau neckline, with rolled collar, and mink-cuffed bracelet sleeves. A self fabric panel train was caught at mid back with a Dior bow and continued on to cotillion length. Her elbow length, illusion veil was held with a double crown of lace and pearls, and she carried a cascade of pink roses.

Lighting the chancel candles were Miss Joan Sullivan and Randy Giles, both of Broken Bow. Miss Traci Trego of Sutherland, was the flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home in York. Both are graduates of Kearney State College.

Couple Plans Autumn Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Anderson of Osceola announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Lynette, to Charles Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Roberts.

Miss Anderson attended Norfolk Junior College and is presently employed at the First National Bank of Osceola.

Mr. Roberts is a graduate of Northeastern Nebraska College, and is currently attending the College of Mortuary Science at San Francisco, Calif.

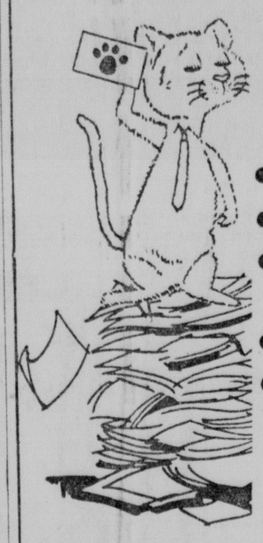

Garlic English Muffins

Having spaghetti tonight? Pass a basket of Garlicky English Muffins. Be prepared for seconds all around.
